3 Prisoners Murdered In Korean Camp

Neutral Guard Group Unable To Explain Why Orientals Slain

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The chairman of the Korean repatriation commission said today three Oriental prisoners have been slain by fellow POWs in a camp for anti-Communists in Korea's neutral zone.

Fifteen other prisoners have died, 10 of natural causes, it was announced. Three were shot to death by Indian guards during demonstrations, one apparently committed suicide and another died of starvation, the report said.

Nine of the dead were Koreans and nine Chinese.

The Communists have charged bitterly in propaganda broadcasts and in letters to Indian custodial troops that South Korean and Chinese Nationalist agents in the camp tortured and murdered prisoners who wanted to return home. The Reds demanded that the murderers be found and punished.

Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission (NNRC) said the Indians had not discovered the persons who committed the three murders. He said:

"WE CAN'T find out why any of the captives were killed."

Thimayya said one prisoner had his upper legs crushed, another was near starvation before his death, and one had been badly beaten and his body thrown out of the compound by fellow prisoners.

The Indian general reported the murders after a meeting of the NNRC, which is deadlocked over whether to use force to make reluctant North Korean prisoners attend interviews with Communist representatives. He said the dispute on explanations was not discussed.

Instead, the Swiss, Swedes, Czechs, Poles and Indians on the commission discussed methods of investigating the prisoners' slayings.

Brig. Gen. A. L. Hamblen, head of the United Nations Command repatriation group, wrote the Indian command today that he was unable to find sufficient evidence to verify an NNRC assertion that an Allied officer had called a Polish officer a foul name during explanation interviews Oct. 17.

But, Hamblen said, a U. N. representative has been relieved "from duties for failure" to meet the standards of the Allied command. Some other officers were reminded "of the need for proper military discipline and behavior," he said.

No Comment From Dorothy About LaRosa

NEW YORK (AP)—Dorothy McGuire is refusing to comment on reports she will cast aside her soldier husband to marry crooner LaRosa.

LaRosa says he hopes to marry her, but her father in Ohio insists the whole affair is "just publicity, just lies."

The attractive Miss McGuire, is a 22-year-old entertainer on the Arthur Godfrey television and radio programs from which LaRosa was fired a week ago.

She made her customary appearance with her two sisters on Godfrey's morning program. Godfrey pressed his high regard for the three sisters in introducing them for their number.

The 23-year-old La Rosa sought seclusion yesterday, but it was disclosed that he had conferred at length on Monday with a priest regarding the problem of his romance with Miss McGuire.

La Rosa said on Monday he hopes to marry Miss McGuire but that there are religious and legal difficulties to work out. He is a Roman Catholic. Miss McGuire, whose mother is a Protestant minister, is still married to a serviceman, Sgt. John Brown, now in Korea.

In Miami Beach, Ohio, Miss McGuire's parents discounted reports that she would wed La Rosa. Her father, Asa McGuire, insisted she was "happily married" to Brown.

Miss McGuire's mother, the Rev. Willie McGuire, resigned last year as pastor of Miami Beach's First Church of God after her daughters went to New York.

Grand Jurors Will Be Recalled; Raid Cases Among Those Listed

Pickaway County Prosecutor William Ammer announced Wednesday that the September grand jury will be recalled next week to consider "an accumulation" of cases.

Included will be the cases of nine men and two women held under bond on gambling accusations. The 11 were arrested during a raid staged by city police on a card game found in the rear of Little Midget restaurant on W. Main St.

Ammer said he also plans to present evidence in the case of William Tamerlin, 54, of Chicago, who has been accused of manslaughter.

Leading Churchmen Worried Over Fate Of United Nations

CLEVELAND (AP)—Church leaders today made it plain they're worried about the fate of the United Nations.

Speaker after speaker at an interdenominational conference rose to decry anti-U. N. activity in the country and to declare their confidence in the world organization.

The U. N., said Dr. Richard M. Tagley, New York congregationalist, is "threatened by a jungle of dashed nationalism, social systems and power blocs."

Mrs. Edith Sampson, Chicago Episcopalian, said: "The future of the United Nations is at stake. The U. N. deserves the full support of the churches we represent."

Such sentiments were echoed repeatedly as 400 clergymen and laymen, representing 30 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations, sought to put world questions to the test of Christian doctrine.

LAST NIGHT, opening night of the four-day meeting, 2,000 persons joined conference delegates in listening to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt praise United Nations achievements and defend its cost.

She said the danger that another war probably would bring extinction to most of the earth's people

Special Envoy To Offer Reds New Formula

Optimistic Prediction Issued On Future Of Korean Peace Talks

PANMUNJOM (AP)—U. S. special envoy Arthur Dean tomorrow will offer the Communists a new formula for setting up a Korean peace conference. Today he said "there is a possibility we are going to work something out."

Dean's optimistic prediction followed the third session of preliminary talks to plan a Korean political conference. There was no noticeable progress at the 2 hour and 40 minute meeting.

The Communist delegate insisted in a 2,500-word statement that Russia be seated at the peace conference as a neutral.

Dean said he replied that Russia logically should attend the conference and sit with Red China and North Korea since Communist armies in Korea "were equipped with planes, tanks, guns and munitions sent by the Soviet."

"The Soviet Union has openly supported your side by word and deed. The U. S. S. R. has thus played a direct role in the Korean hostilities."

THE U. S. envoy, who represents the U. N., also reiterated that he had no authority under the U. N. resolution approving the preliminary talks to negotiate on composition of the top-level conference.

North Korean Delegate Ki Sok Bok branded the U. N. resolution as "completely illegal."

Dean is authorized only to set a time and place.

"I still think these are only preliminary skirmishes and there is still a possibility we are going to work something out of these preliminary talks," he told newsmen after the meeting.

"It seems to me I can detect an attitude of interest on their part and that they really want to come to some conclusion on this matter."

Of his new offer to the Reds, he said:

Cost Of Living Rockets To All-Time High For 7th Consecutive Month

Republican Chief Says GOP Can't Discount Discontent

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.), saying Republicans cannot afford politically to discount farm discontent, declared today the GOP faces "a whale of a big problem" in drafting a new agriculture program.

And Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) declared that unless the Republicans come up soon with plans "to meet the crisis in agriculture" President Eisenhower ought to call a special session of Congress.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, said he and other GOP congressional chieftains expect to sit in with Eisenhower and Cabinet members on the formation of the administration's program to be laid before Congress in January.

The California senator wouldn't commit himself in advance on expected demands in Congress for continuance of fixed, high - level price supports for crops.

But he said discontent over farm price declines evidently was reflected in the election of a Democrat in Wisconsin's traditionally Republican 9th Congressional District two weeks ago.

"I DON'T think Republicans can ignore the significance of that election," he said. "It was a warning signal that should not be discounted."

He said Republicans face a "tough contest" in a Nov. 10 special election in California's 24th Congressional District which lies in urban Los Angeles and Pasadena.

In this district, formerly represented by Republican Rep. Paul Poulson, now Los Angeles mayor, Democratic registrations top Republican by 10,000. Two Democrats and two Republicans are running; the high man will be the winner.

Kefauver said he thinks the Republicans ought to realize that the Agriculture Department's estimate yesterday that farmers will wind up this year with $1 billion less net income than in 1952 points toward a "substantial recession."

Sen. Kerr (D-Okl.) said he thinks the department's estimate of farmers' loss of revenue is far too low. But he added he doesn't believe Eisenhower would be willing to call a special session "to compel himself to do something he has full authority to do now."

He said what is needed more is "a change of policy by Secretary of Agriculture Benson either on

3 Hospital Buildings Due For Dedication

COLUMBUS (AP)—When three new hospital buildings are dedicated in November, it will mark another milestone in the state welfare department's long-range building program.

The $1½ million receiving hospital at the Toledo State Hospital will be dedicated Nov. 1. Four days later the $900,000 receiving hospital in Portsmouth will be dedicated, and the psychopathic unit at the Lima State Hospital, costing $1,600,000, will be dedicated Nov. 12.

Director John H. Lamneck said major new units under his department opened since last July 1 represent $6,300,000 in construction. He said another five major units representing $1,760,000 in construction are almost completed.

In addition, 20 other projects either are under construction now or have been authorized. They represent an estimated $17,345,000 in construction.

Cottage for 125 persons at Columbus State Hospital $200,000, employees building at Mount Vernon State Hospital $385,000, employees building at Apple Creek State Hospital $375,000, employees building at Hawthorn State Hospital $400,000, and two 125-bed cottages at Orient State Institute $400,000.

his own initiative or by presidential directive." He added: "Benson at all times has had full authority and ample finances to prevent the collapse of cattle prices or to restore them now."

MEANWHILE, the cattlemen's "caravan" hit the trail for home, its members vowing to take their fight for livestock price supports to the political grass roots.

The cattlemen appeared to have written off completely any idea of getting direct price supports.

"Benson isn't going to help us," said James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers Union, which organized the caravan. "He had the perfect chance to do it while these men were here, if he was going to do it."

Patton added that a new caravan would march on Washington "that will make this one look like a small affair" if Congress doesn't vote high-level price supports for livestock.

Kerr pledged to fight for high-level rigid price supports in the next Congress. He said he would seek them on livestock and all other farm products.

Kerr appeared to have summed up the feelings of many of the cattlemen's delegation when he said of top Agriculture Department officials:

"They couldn't have treated you nicer or done less for you."

U.S. Shuns Hint Malenkov Ready For Top-Level Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—American officials turned a cold shoulder today toward a new Russian hint that Premier Malenkov may be ready for peace talks with Western chiefs of state.

President Eisenhower, they said, will consider such a conference only after Russia has proved its sincerity on specific moves to ease East-West tension, such as German and Austrian peace pacts.

Britain's Prime Minister Churchill has been plugging the idea of an informal meeting with Malenkov, but informed officials said last night he has promised Secretary of State Dulles to delay any move toward arranging one.

There has been speculation Churchill was planning to go to Moscow by himself. He reportedly stuck to the view, during recent talks with Dulles in London, that some such meeting is needed if the West is to find out at first hand what Malenkov is like and what his views may be.

Dulles reportedly obtained an agreement from Churchill not to take any direct action at least until (1) Moscow replies to the latest Western invitation for a Big Four foreign ministers' meeting, and (2) France and the other signers have been given a chance to ratify the proposed six-nation European Defense Community.

The new Russian hint that Malenkov might be willing to meet with his Western counterparts came from Russia's United Nations delegate, Andrei Vishinsky, who told U. N. correspondents in New York yesterday "there is no special problem" in arranging face-to-face discussions between Malenkov and Western leaders.

He insisted such a meeting could be called "without a preliminary test of the sincerity and good intentions of the Soviet Union," the condition Eisenhower and Dulles have laid down.

State Department experts on Russia carefully noted Vishinsky's remarks. Nearly all were convinced the former Russian foreign policy chief chose this time to publicize Russian views for a specific reason.

Some officials believed it possible Vishinsky was sending up a "trial balloon" to determine whether Eisenhower would be interested now in meeting Malenkov informally, as Churchill has suggested.

A majority, however, believed it likely Vishinsky was trying to publicize Russia's professed willingness to talk about ending the cold war in a move to soften an imminent rejection by Moscow of the Western Big Three invitation to attend a conference in Lugano, Switzerland, Nov. 9 to consider the deadlocked German and Austrian peace negotiations.

Hot Palestine Dispute Eases As Israel Holds Up Project

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Straining tensions over the hot Palestine dispute eased a notch today after Israel suddenly offered to hold up her Jordan River hydroelectric project while the U. N. Security Council debates the issue. The move won quick commendation from both the Arabs and the United States.

Israel's chief U. N. delegate, Abba Eban, made the surprise offer yesterday to suspend work on diverting the waters of the Jordan as the council debated Syria's complaint that the project deprived the Arabs of water for irrigation and breached the Arab-Jewish armistice.

Lebanon's Dr. Charles Malik, sole Arab League delegate on the council, voiced gratitude for Israel's "conciliatory gesture" and congratulated Eban for making it.

U. N. circles said the Israeli compromise gesture might serve to cool off the boiling Palestine dispute, which has roused fear in Washington and London that an

Price Levels Hiked To 13 Pct. Above '50

Rents And Clothing Increases Boost Index During September

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of living, pushed upward mainly by higher rents, clothing costs and medical expenses, set another new record last month.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics announced that its consumer price index reached 115.2 in mid-September, a rise of two-tenths of 1 per cent over the record August level.

This was the seventh straight monthly increase and the present price level is about 13 per cent above the 1950 pre-Korea figure.

The index is a composite average of retail prices paid by the American household for basic goods and services as compared with 1947-1949.

The bureau said a decline in retail food prices between August and September was not enough to offset higher prices for all other types of goods and services.

A MONTH AGO, the BLS index for mid-August was reported at 115. That meant that the average American householder was paying $1.15 in mid-August for the same basic items and services he bought for an average of $1 in the 1947-49 base period.

The index figures for the last few months, all given on a 1947-49 basis: March 113.6, April 113.7, May 114, June 114.5, July 114.7, August 115.

Federal rent controls died at the end of July in some 1,400 communities throughout the nation. The BLS index covering the period from mid-July to mid-August did not reflect the full impact of rent increases which followed.

There have also been new rises in gasoline prices and the cost of public transportation.

No major labor union contracts are geared to this month's BLS index.

High administration officials, led by President Eisenhower, have recently contended that prices, while still rising, are tending to flatten out on a high plateau.

Oberlin Plans Opening New Auditorium

OVERLIN (AP)—Oberlin College, dedicating a $1,200,000 auditorium, will award doctor of laws degrees Saturday to Gov. Frank J. Lausche, Rep. Frances P. Epton and two Aluminum Co. of America executives.

Named in honor of Sophronia Brooks Hall, the new 422-seat building is the present of her son, the late Charles M. Hall, an Oberlin graduate who discovered the modern process for manufacture of aluminum.

Hall was one of Alcoa's founders. His gifts to the college are valued today at $20 million. At the dedication, degrees of Doctor of Humane Letters will go to Grove Patterson, editor-in-chief of the Toledo Blade, and to Paul G. Hoffman, Ford Foundation president.

Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, radio minister, will receive a Doctor of Divinity degree and actor Edward Everett Horton will get a Doctor of Letters Degree. Horton was once a student at the old Oberlin Academy.

To the new structure's architect, Wallace K. Harrison, will go a Doctor of Fine Arts degree.

his own initiative or by presidential directive." He added:

"Benson at all times has had full authority and ample finances to prevent the collapse of cattle prices or to restore them now."

MEANWHILE, the cattlemen's "caravan" hit the trail for home, its members vowing to take their fight for livestock price supports to the political grass roots.

The cattlemen appeared to have written off completely any idea of getting direct price supports.

"Benson isn't going to help us," said James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers Union, which organized the caravan. "He had the perfect chance to do it while these men were here, if he was going to do it."

Patton added that a new caravan would march on Washington "that will make this one look like a small affair" if Congress doesn't vote high-level price supports for livestock.

Kerr pledged to fight for high-level rigid price supports in the next Congress. He said he would seek them on livestock and all other farm products.

Kerr appeared to have summed up the feelings of many of the cattlemen's delegation when he said of top Agriculture Department officials:

"They couldn't have treated you nicer or done less for you."

U.S. Shuns Hint Malenkov Ready For Top-Level Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—American officials turned a cold shoulder today toward a new Russian hint that Premier Malenkov may be ready for peace talks with Western chiefs of state.

President Eisenhower, they said, will consider such a conference only after Russia has proved its sincerity on specific moves to ease East-West tension, such as German and Austrian peace pacts.

Britain's Prime Minister Churchill has been plugging the idea of an informal meeting with Malenkov, but informed officials said last night he has promised Secretary of State Dulles to delay any move toward arranging one.

There has been speculation Churchill was planning to go to Moscow by himself. He reportedly stuck to the view, during recent talks with Dulles in London, that some such meeting is needed if the West is to find out at first hand what Malenkov is like and what his views may be.

Dulles reportedly obtained an agreement from Churchill not to take any direct action at least until (1) Moscow replies to the latest Western invitation for a Big Four foreign ministers' meeting, and (2) France and the other signers have been given a chance to ratify the proposed six-nation European Defense Commission.

The new Russian hint that Malenkov might be willing to meet with his Western counterparts came from Russia's United Nations delegate, Andrei Vishinsky, who told U. N. correspondents in New York yesterday "there is no special problem" in arranging face-to-face discussions between Malenkov and Western leaders.

He insisted such a meeting could be called "without a preliminary test of the sincerity and good intentions of the Soviet Union," the condition Eisenhower and Dulles have laid down.

State Department experts on Russia carefully noted Vishinsky's remarks. Nearly all were convinced the former Russian foreign policy chief chose this time to publicize Russian views for a specific reason.

Some officials believed it possible Vishinsky was sending up a "trial balloon" to determine whether Eisenhower would be interested now in meeting Malenkov informally, as Churchill has suggested.

A majority, however, believed it likely Vishinsky was trying to publicize Russia's professed willingness to talk about ending the cold war in a move to soften an imminent rejection by Moscow of the Western Big Three invitation to attend a conference in Lugano, Switzerland, Nov. 9 to consider the deadlocked German and Austrian peace negotiations.

Parents Warned About Halloween

Parents in Circleville had better keep close tabs on their Halloween youngsters or they may find themselves on the wrong side of the law.

Circleville Police Chief Elmer Merriman Wednesday declared he is ready to file accusations against the parents of any minor youngsters who are caught in acts of vandalism during this Halloween season.

"A little good, clean fun is all right," Merriman said. "Destroying or defacing property which costs money to replace or repair is not good, clean fun. Nor is placing stuff on the sidewalks or in the streets to cause people personal injury much good, clean fun."

The Chief pointed out responsibility for the acts of vandals under 18 lies with the parents or guardians, and they are the ones who will face charges if their youngster is caught.

3 Hospital Buildings Due For Dedication

COLUMBUS (AP)—When three new hospital buildings are dedicated in November, it will mark another milestone in the state welfare department's long-range building program.

The $1½ million receiving hospital at the Toledo State Hospital will be dedicated Nov. 1. Four days later the $900,000 receiving hospital in Portsmouth will be dedicated, and the psychopathic unit at the Lima State Hospital, costing $1,600,000, will be dedicated Nov. 12.

Director John H. Lamneck said major new units under his department opened since last July 1 represent $6,300,000 in construction. He said another five major units representing $1,760,000 in construction are almost completed.

In addition, 20 other projects either are under construction now or have been authorized. They represent an estimated $17,345,000 in construction.

Cottage for 125 persons at Columbus State Hospital $200,000, employs building at Mount Vernon State Hospital $385,000, employs building at Apple Creek State Hospital $375,000, employs building at Hawthorned State Hospital $400,000, and two 125-bed cottages at Orient State Institute $400,000.

Price Levels Hiked To 13 Pct. Above '50

Rents And Clothing Increases Boost Index During September

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of living, pushed upward mainly by higher rents, clothing costs and medical expenses, set another new record last month.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics announced that its consumer price index reached 115.2 in mid-September, a rise of two-tenths of 1 per cent over the record August level.

This was the seventh straight monthly increase and the present price level is about 13 per cent above the 1950 pre-Korea figure.

The index is a composite average of retail prices paid by the American household for basic goods and services as compared with 1947-1949.

The bureau said a decline in retail food prices between August and September was not enough to offset higher prices for all other types of goods and services.

A MONTH AGO, the BLS index for mid-August was reported at 115. That meant that the average American householder was paying $1.15 in mid-August for the same basic items and services he bought for an average of $1 in the 1947-49 base period.

The index figures for the last few months, all given on a 1947-49 basis: March 113.6, April 113.7, May 114, June 114.5, July 114.7, August 115.

Federal rent controls died at the end of July in some 1,400 communities throughout the nation. The BLS index covering the period from mid-July to mid-August did not reflect the full impact of rent increases which followed.

There have also been new rises in gasoline prices and the cost of public transportation.

No major labor union contracts are geared to this month's BLS index.

High administration officials, led by President Eisenhower, have recently contended that prices, while still rising, are tending to flatten out on a high plateau.

Oberlin Plans Opening New Auditorium

OVERLIN (AP)—Oberlin College, dedicating a $1,200,000 auditorium, will award doctor of laws degrees Saturday to Gov. Frank J. Lausche, Rep. Frances P. Bolton and two Aluminum Co. of America executives.

The two executives, both from the firm which was the source of a large part of the college's endowment, are board chairman Arthur V. Davis and Roy A. Hunt, chairman of the firm's executive committee.

Named in honor of Sophronia Brooks Hall, the new 422-seat building is the present of her son, the late Charles M. Hall, an Oberlin graduate who discovered the modern process for manufacture of aluminum.

Hall was one of Alcoa's founders. His gifts to the college are valued today at $20 million.

At the dedication, degrees of Doctor of Humane Letters will go to Grove Patterson, editor-in-chief of the Toledo Blade, and to Paul G. Hoffman, Ford Foundation president.

Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, radio minister, will receive a Doctor of Divinity degree and actor Edward Everett Horton will get a Doctor of Letters Degree. Horton was once a student at the old Oberlin Academy.

To the new structure's architect, Wallace K. Harrison, will go a Doctor of Fine Arts degree.

Even though he made it clear he is unable to negotiate on who shall attend a Korean peace conference, Wednesday's session was devoted to talking of little else.

Dean said of repeated Communist assertions that Russia is a neutral:

"WE CANNOT accept this suggestion seriously or indeed believe that you put it forward seriously. It is really very funny."

In his opening statement, Dean accused the "reds" of moving from a discussion of an agenda to arguing items on the agenda, specifically the Red demand that neutral nations participate in the peace conference.

"This action is arbitrary on two counts," he said. "It involves a unilateral determination of the agenda by your side as the official agenda of this meeting. It also involves a unilateral choice of one item in that agenda as the primary interest and subject of first importance."

County Agent Cautions Farmers He Sees No End To Drouth Yet

Pickaway County Agent Larry Best advised district farmers Wednesday to "wait awhile until you see more" before they believe recent rains herald the end of the long drouth.

He said, in his opinion, "it's just been a splash alongside what we need," reminding that farms in this section of the state have suffered a 15-inch rainfall deficiency since the beginning of 1952.

"And that doesn't even figure on what we lacked prior to 1952, or what we'll be short the rest of this year," he added.

Council Okays 2 Sewer Jobs

Advertising for bids is the next step for the Watt St. and Fairview Ave. sewer projects, now officially "nailed down" with a final green light by City Council.

Council Tuesday night passed on third and final reading a group of ordinances which call for a bond issue as part of the improvement plans. Councilman Boyd Horn was reported absent from all of the three special meetings called to speed the sewer jobs on their way.

The sewer projects are to be financed by the assessment method, each property owner to pay according to the "benefits" calculated for his property. The same method, Council hopes, will help speed work on the city's expansion program.

In view of Council's final approval of the sewer jobs, City Service Director Dewey Speakman was expected to give an estimate soon as to when the actual work may begin. Individual councilmen have expressed belief the jobs would not have to be seriously delayed because of cold weather.

Ohio Fuel Gas Rate Change OKd

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has permitted the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. to amend its gas contracts for special industrial purposes and to provide $655,000 in additional gross revenues annually.

The company claimed it now costs $700,000 a year more to furnish special gas service for industrial customers than it did before, because Ohio Fuel must pay more for gas than it gets wholesale.

hasty conclusions on the end of the dry spell, Best said the recent rains may have come in time to give the Winter wheat a fighting chance.

"I THINK we've had enough moisture in the places I've seen recently," he said, "to bring up our wheat, barley and rye. However, we've done a good bit of digging lately, and in no place did we find moisture more than an inch below the surface from the recent rainfall."

Best emphasized he meant only that the moisture should be enough to germinate the seeds—"to get them started." Beyond that, he added, "I don't want to go at this time until I see more moisture than I have."

The county agent was especially asked for his reaction to reports that long-dry streams are again running in Pickaway County. An outstanding case was reported from the vicinity of St. Paul, where water more than foot deep was reported in a ditch that had been dry for a long time.

"I'd have to see it to believe it," Best commented, stressing at the same time he hasn't been in the St. Paul area lately, and that he knows how certain conditions can suddenly bring water back into long-dry streams.

In his recent travels in this area, he said, "I've seen a number of places where the dry creek beds are still as dry as they were in mid-Summer."

He explained conditions such as that reported around St. Paul easily could develop as result of short period of time. At such times, he said, it is nothing unusual to have water reappearing in ditches and soil where only dry spots showed before.

"AT TIMES," he pointed out, "such water-raising even comes before rainfall, so it's very possible that in some parts of the county we have long-dry streams flowing again."

"Nevertheless, I'm not going to get excited about it, and believe the drouth is over, until I see more moisture all over this section."

"I know many of the oldtimers consider the water-raising conditions the tipoff on the end of dry spell, and they may be right. I don't know. At any rate, they often hit it on the nose by using that method for their predictions."

Admiral Predicts A-Fleet Coming

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Initial tests of an atomic engine for submarines exceeded expectations, Adm. Robert B. Carney told a military organization last night, and predicted an entire fleet of future warships powered by nuclear energy.

The chief of naval operations, speaking to the Military Order of the World Wars, warned the nation's defense is being weakened by failure to maintain a modern Navy: "For the most part, our ships are designed to meet the conditions of World War II."

Carney stressed the value of a fleet using atomic power in the event oil supplies become scarce or inaccessible.

Schoolboy Patrol Slated To Begin Here Next Week

Circleville's schoolboy patrol program is expected to go into operation the first of next week at the high school and Corwin St. buildings.

Mayor Ed Amey said the program is to get started as soon as new patrolman equipment is handed out and a special school film is shown.

Amey, who organized the patrol of 54 boys in cooperation with the school, said it is important for all of the youngsters at the schools to be affected by the system to see a 15-minute motion picture on the subject.

"After the movie is shown, and one of the policemen or patrolmen give an address," Amey said, "the patrol will begin immediately."

AMEY HAS received badges and white web belts which will be given to the young patrolmen. Temporarily, the patrolmen are expected to work without the bamboo poles equipped with red flags.

At first, the patrol setup is expected to be in operation only at Court and Mill, at Court and Corwin and at the Corwin school side entrance.

Five men have lost their licenses and have been sentenced to serve the mandatory three-day jail sentences for drunken driving when they appeared before Pickaway County Common Pleas Court.

Judge Dismisses False Arrest Suit

COLUMBUS (AP) — A suit for $25,000 damages for false arrest filed by Russell V. Alter against Franklin County Sheriff Ralph J. Paul has been thrown out by Common Pleas Judge William C. Bryant.

All Local Schools To Close Friday

All schools of Circleville and Pickaway County will be closed Friday for a "teachers holiday."

Teachers from the local schools are to join with instructors from other Ohio school systems in a huge Central Ohio Teachers' Association meeting in Columbus.

Playing an active role in the huge, 87th annual COTA session will be Brice Connell, superintendent of Darby Township School, who is secretary to a group on "county, city and local superintendents."

General session of the annual meeting will begin at 9:30 a. m. Friday in the Ohio State Fairgrounds Coliseum. Later, teachers will meet in specialized groups for study of all phases of school work. Each of the specialized group meetings will feature an address by an outstanding person in that field.

Speaker for the large general session Friday morning will be Dr. Morris Fishbein, outstanding medical consultant, teacher, editor and author, who will address the group upon "Advances of Medical Progress."

Pranks Hit Peak On Monday Night

Halloween vandalism reached its peak to date in Pickaway County on Monday night.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff said his department was busy throughout Monday night clearing away tree stumps and gates across roads and cleaning up road signs which had been torn from their posts.

Climaxing the night's business, however, was an attempt to burn a bridge in Madison Township. Radcliff said vandals had set up a tinder shock, corn and oil, on the wood flooring of a steel span on Perrill Road and set fire to it. The fire was doused by Groveport firemen.

Because of the wet weather and cool temperatures, Tuesday night was free from the vicious type of pranks. Radcliff said his department was not called once throughout the night.

Ashville Man Is Fined Here After Jury Trial

A jury Tuesday in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court returned a verdict of guilty against Walter Cummins of Ashville Route 2 for operating an auto with fictitious plates.

Cummins was fined $500 and costs for the offense, with $400 suspended in favor of a one-year motor law probation.

Jurors bringing forth the guilty verdict were Mary Cromley, Maxine Lanman, Hoyt Martin, Dorothy Bosworth, Margaret Morris, Fred Call Jr., Lester Poling, Bertha Fout, Carletta Dearth, Billy Reay, Wilson Lape and Mary Pile.

The same man was found innocent in another jury trial concluded earlier this month on an accusation of carrying concealed weapons and assault in a menacing manner.

Jurors for that case were Joe Bell, James Wickensimer, Emma Hedges, Melvin Yates, R. T. Blaney, Edith Grigg, Mason Young, George Roth, Betty Sampson, Roma Troutman, Florence Dutton and Maxine Lanman.

Easy Money, U.S. Treasury Trade Boosts

Each Helping Other, Thanks To Switch In Monetary Policy

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Easy money is giving the U. S. Treasury a boost. On return the Treasury, is giving easy money another pat on the back.

Thanks to a switch in money policy late in the spring for the purpose of fighting the business dip even before the general public realized it was under way, the administration is now able to borrow money at less cost than just a month ago.

By offering a bond appealing mostly to commercial banks, the Treasury today will take another step aimed at halting deflation by making money easier and credit more plentiful.

This is because sale of Treasury securities to the banks gives them a base which they could use to increase the money supply. If the bonds had been aimed at reaching the nation's real savings, those held outside of commercial banks, the Treasury would have been competing with industry, farming, builders, businessmen for the funds available for loans. This would have tightened money instead of easing it.

Early in the year the Federal Reserve Board did tighten the money and credit supply. It cut the amount of funds that commercial banks had to lend. Interest rates rose.

Businessmen, builders and farmers found bankers reluctant or unable to lend as freely as before. Corporations found they must pay higher interest rates than they liked if they were to float new securities in the investment market.

The resulting clamor against the tight money policy coincided with the cresting of the Korean War boom wave in March and its slow receding since.

Then the federal reserve took steps to ease credit. It cut the amount of money banks must keep tied up as reserves. It bought U. S. Treasury securities from the banks, making more money available for lending. The money pinch ended in July.

With more money out looking for work, yields began sliding in the security markets. The Treasury this week borrowed money in the short-term market at the lowest interest cost in 38 months.

It will peddle its eight-year bond at only 2 1/2 per cent, compared with 2 3/4 per cent it had to pay in September on notes running only 3 1/2 years.

The banks not only have more money to lend than they had last spring, but they also have less demand for their funds than they had counted on. Industry and business turned cautious in August and September and the usual fall demand for credit hasn't been as big as anticipated.

Bank loans to industry, business and agriculture have picked up seasonally—but not with the rush that the bankers have come to look for at this time of year.

Commercial interest rates have eased a little, too, along with the rates the government must pay to borrow to meet its growing deficit.

In the mortgage field there is considerable debate. Builders insist money is too tight and mortgage terms too stiff. Bankers and other investors contend there is plenty of money to lend to "the right borrowers." But bankers are looking hard at applicants these days, wanting bigger down payments, higher rates.

Easy money is paying off for the Treasury in lower interest charges. Its real concern, however, is to fight deflation which is now considered more of a threat than a renewal of inflation. To that end it'll probably keep money easy.

Poland Asks Return Of Ship, Crew

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Communist Poland has fired off a new note to the United States reiterating its demand that Washington secure the release of a Polish ship seized by a Chinese Nationalist gunboat early this month.

A Warsaw radio broadcast last night quoted the note as saying the Polish government holds the United States responsible for the lives and health of certain members of the ship's crew who have been reported under arrest.

The vessel, the Praca, was seized by the Chinese Nationalist warship Oct. 4 in Far Eastern waters.

A previous Polish note to Washington, delivered Oct. 12, said the United States was responsible for the seizure because "it is well known that the Chiang Kai-shek forces stationed on Taiwan (Formosa) are under the political and military control of the U. S."

It also claimed that two aircraft, one bearing U. S. Air Force mark-

The new Polish note termed this answer completely unsatisfactory. It declared, the Nationalist forces dared to stop the ship only because of U. S. support.

U.S. Steel Operating At Top Capacity

NEW YORK (AP)—United States Steel Corp. is racing along at 100 per cent of its theoretical 1953 capacity and producing steel at an annual rate better than it did in any of the World War II years.

Board Chairman Benjamin F. Fairless expressed confidence yesterday that the full capacity operations would continue for the rest of this year, and keep at 95 per cent for the first quarter of 1954.

The world's biggest steel producer disclosed these highlights of its nine-month record after the meeting of the Board of Directors for the third quarter:

Its net income for the third quarter soared to a 37-year high for such a period, which is normally pretty low. The earnings for the July - August - September period were $61,705,264 or $2.12 a share—greatest third quarter income since the 1916 high of $69,601,175, equal to $2.42 a share.

An all-time record was hit in shipments of steel products during the first nine months this year with a total of 18,951,123 tons. The previous record nine-month total was 18,344,497 tons in 1951.

The corporation's net income for the first nine months of this year boomed to $166,723,028, or $5.66 share, as compared with $96,158,606 or $2.96 a share for the like period of 1952.

New Trouble Faces Benson

GOP Senator To Ask Reorganization Delay

WASHINGTON (AP)—New trouble turned up today for Secretary of Agriculture Benson in the form of Republican opposition to his plan for reorganization of his department.

With Benson beleaguered by cattlemen seeking price supports of beef on the hoof, Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.) announced he is going to ask the secretary to delay putting the reorganization plan into effect until Congress can take a searching look at its probable effect.

"I'm afraid this reorganization plan contemplates elimination of the soil conservation program on a watershed or regional basis and puts it back on a countrywide basis," Carlson said.

He said he feared that the reorganization, which would eliminate seven regional soil conservation offices, might result in the loss to government service of highly trained specialists he thinks ought to be retained.

IN OUTLINING the plan Oct. 13, Benson invited comment and criticism and said he would wait at least until Nov. 1 to put any of it into effect.

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) said he is confident Benson will "come up with a good farm program." He said he expects from a 16-member advisory commission, which met with the President last week, recommendation, "that will help remedy the situation."

Democrats don't appear to share such a viewpoint.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) said yesterday that Rural Electrification Administration cooperatives are "fighting for their lives" because of the administration's new power policies.

Sparkman said the Eisenhower administration is out to "curtail and hamper" REA cooperative "in the hope that their owners will give up or sell in desperation."

Buckshot Blast Greets Couple

MARIETTA (AP)—Betty Fonner, Washington County home demonstration agent, and Kenneth Ackerman, associate county agent, are of a mind that some days it doesn't pay to leave the courthouse.

They walked out the door yesterday and into a buckshot barrage. They weren't hurt seriously but they would like to know what the shooting was all about. And so would the police who say only, "We're investigating."

Bakery Worker Dies In Mishap

CLEVELAND (AP)—James Przelska, 14, was strangled to death yesterday when his head wedged between an oven door and a revolving belt at a bakery where he was employed cleaning pots and pans. Police said the boy apparently stuck his head in the oven to see whether pans were drying.

Mechanical 'Angle Worm' Developed To Aid Surgeons

ATLANTA (AP)—A mechanical "trained angle worm" offers a new and improved aid in relieving dangerous obstructions of the intestine, the Southern Medical Assn. was told today.

Two Lynchburg, Va., doctors said the new device appears to be the answer to the difficulties—and sometimes failures—marking previous methods for getting a rubber tube down through the food passageway into the intestine so as to suck out obstructing gas and fluids.

Dr. John W. Devine Jr. and his doctor-father said the problems have resulted from the fact that there are several devious curves and one outright loop in the passageway leading from the gullet down through the stomach into the duodenum, the first part of the intestine.

The new "angle worm" is a hollow piece of curved hard rubber, attached by an ingenious "swivel joint" to the fore end of a rubber suction tube which is inserted into the patient's nose and guided down through the meandering pathway into the duodenum.

The "swivel joint" is remotely controlled by a miniature speedometer cable inserted in the tube so that the doctor can swing the "angle worm" in any direction he desires.

Thus, the doctors said, the entire tube can be guided, much like a crawling worm, along the tricky pathway.

The procedure is observed by an X-ray fluoroscope.

The doctors made their report in a scientific exhibit at the opening of the 47th annual meeting of the SMA, second largest general medical organization in the nation, with members in 16 Southern states and the District of Columbia.

They said the key to the new development was the perfection of the tiny "swivel joint." They credited this to Peyton Morgan, a 73-year-old retired electrical contractor, also of Lynchburg, who succeeded, they said, after they had been unable to find an instrument maker to accomplish the trick.

The younger Devine told a reporter the device has been employed successfully in a number of cases and that an extremely small model has been developed for use in babies.

But, he added, there is still a problem of "find an instrument maker who can copy Mr. Morgan's work and put these instruments out in any quantity."

On that James C. Hagerty, the press secretary, crossed swords on a television program last night with Raymond P. Brandt, chief of the Washington bureau of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

They differed, too over whether the administration fears and distrusts the press and whether it was a payoff to friendly newspapers when Atty. Gen. Brownell "leaked" word to five hand-picked newsmen ahead of time that Gov. Earl Warren of California would become chief justice.

"In the Roosevelt administration," Brandt said, "we had politicians and college professors and those who studied government. Now, the bulk of the top men and women are business people, or military, who have the idea that they can put an action already taken before the people and thereby stop discussion."

Hagerty said in reply he believes the administration is honestly trying to get Washington newspapermen to get the news. He said a new information order may be expected within two weeks which will deny to 29 federal agencies the right to put secrecy stamps on documents and limit the right in 16 other departments to the agency heads.

The order will replace one former President Truman issued in 1951 which told civilian agencies to apply military rules of security to information which might help enemies.

Jury Being Picked

IRONTON (AP)—Jury seating continued today in the trial of Alfred Robinson, 26, and William Saunders, 27, accused of first-degree murder in the robbery-beating last July 4 of Karl Williams, 41, of Grahn, Ky.

U.S. Prisoners To Be Ousted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Informed senators said today all U. S. military prisoners in Korea who co-operated with their Communist captors or gave false confessions will be quietly ousted from the services.

They said this assurance had been given by Secretary of Defense Wilson and the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force. Lawmakers who asked not to be named said the ousters will be on an individual case basis.

The reported Pentagon promise that those who broke under Communist persuasion or tortures will be separated from the service may head off a potential investigation by the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Quadruplets Born In Lansing, Mich.

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Quadruplets, the second set for Michigan's capital city, were born here yesterday.

Mrs. June Trollman, 33, is the mother. She gave birth to three boys and a girl. Mother and the babies were reported "doing fine."

The tiny infants, ranging in weight from 2 pounds 3 ounces to 2 pounds 10 ounces, were placed in an incubator.

Lansing already is well known for its Morlok quadruplets — four sisters—now 23 years old who were born in 1930.

Smallest Mailman Named 'X-Ray'

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—There's a man here named X Ray who sees a flaw in other claims to the title of "nation's smallest mailman."

X Ray—that's his real name—is 5 feet 2 and weighs only 112 pounds. Charlie Burton, a 63-year-old 115-pounder, retired from the postal service down in Orange, Tex., last week and there were claims he was the smallest letter carrier in the country.

Ray, 56, and the father of seven children, was born in Asheville, N. C. The doctor who delivered him had the first X-ray machine in town. So his parents took a cue and named him X-X Ray.

Air Academy Awaiting OK By Congress

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—The Air Force is ready to set up a West Point of the air as soon as Congress says yes.

There is even a possibility it may not be necessary to await congressional authorization before starting an experimental air academy on a small scale.

These possibilities were discussed at a briefing by Lt. Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, commanding general of the Air University, for visiting aviation writers.

The university at near by Maxwell Air Force Base, is not an academy, but a military graduate school for officers.

Kuter said officers on the Air University staff "hope that legislation now before Congress to establish an air academy will pass."

"We would expect to provide much of the staff for such an academy," he said, "we have drafted a curriculum and other details, and are ready to put them into operation."

Brig. Gen. Dale Smith, the Air University's director of education, added that plans are to enroll 250 students in the first class, "and we are prepared to start with the freshman class at any time."

A bill now before Congress, sponsored by Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.) and supported by the Defense Department, would authorize an air academy of 2,500 students, an enrollment equal to that of the military academy at West Point.

The bill also would authorize establishment of a smaller interim academy. It is such a temporary academy which some experts believe the Air Force already has the authority to set up.

New Trouble Faces Benson

GOP Senator To Ask Reorganization Delay

WASHINGTON (AP)—New trouble turned up today for Secretary of Agriculture Benson in the form of Republican opposition to his plan for reorganization of his department.

With Benson beleaguered by cattlemen seeking price supports of beef on the hoof, Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.) announced he is going to ask the secretary to delay putting the reorganization plan into effect until Congress can take a serious look at its probable effect.

"I'm afraid this reorganization plan contemplates elimination of the soil conservation program on a watershed or regional basis and puts it back on a countrywide basis," Carlson said.

He said he feared that the reorganization, which would eliminate seven regional soil conservation offices, might result in the loss to government service of highly trained specialists he thinks ought to be retained.

IN OUTLINING the plan Oct. 13, Benson invited comment and criticism and said he would wait at least until Nov. 1 to put any of it into effect.

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) said he is confident Benson will "come up with a good farm program." He said he expects from a 16-member advisory commission, which met with the President last week, recommendation, "that will help remedy the situation."

Democrats didn't appear to share such a viewpoint.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) said yesterday that Rural Electrification Administration cooperatives are "fighting for their lives" because of the administration's new power policies.

Sparkman said the Eisenhower administration is out to "curtail and hamper" REA cooperative "in the hope that their owners will give up or sell in desperation."

Buckshot Blast Greets Couple

MARIETTA (AP)—Betty Fonner, Washington County home demonstration agent, and Kenneth Ackerman, associate county agent, are of a mind that some days it doesn't pay to leave the courthouse.

They walked out the door yesterday and into a buckshot barrage. They weren't hurt seriously but they would like to know what the shooting was all about. And so would the police who say only, "We're investigating."

Bakery Worker Dies In Mishap

CLEVELAND (AP)—James Przestelka, 14, was strangled to death yesterday when his head wedged between an oven door and a revolving belt at a bakery where he was employed cleaning pots and pans. Police said the boy apparently stuck his head in the oven to see whether pans were drying.

Mechanical 'Angle Worm' Developed To Aid Surgeons

ATLANTA (AP)—A mechanical "trained angle worm" offers a new and improved aid in relieving dangerous obstructions of the intestine, the Southern Medical Assn. was told today.

Two Lynchburg, Va., doctors said the new device appears to be the answer to the difficulties—and sometimes failures—marking previous methods for getting a rubber tube down through the food passageway into the intestine so as to suck out obstructing gas and fluids.

Dr. John W. Devine Jr. and his doctor-father said the problems have resulted from the fact that there are several devious curves and one outright loop in the passageway leading from the gullet down through the stomach into the duodenum, the first part of the intestine.

The new "angle worm" is a hollow piece of curved hard rubber, attached by an ingenious "swivel joint" to the fore end of a rubber suction tube which is inserted into the patient's nose and guided down through the meandering pathway into the duodenum.

The "swivel joint" is remotely controlled by a miniature speedometer cable inserted in the tube so that the doctor can swing the "angle worm" in any direction he desires.

Thus, the doctors said, the entire tube can be guided, much like a crawling worm, along the tricky pathway.

The procedure is observed by an X-ray fluoroscope.

The doctors made their report in a scientific exhibit at the opening of the 47th annual meeting of the SMA, second largest general medical organization in the nation, with members in 16 Southern states and the District of Columbia.

They said the key to the new development was the perfection of the tiny "swivel joint." They credited this to Peyton Morgan, a 73-year-old retired electrical contractor, also of Lynchburg, who succeeded, they said, after they had been unable to find an instrument maker to accomplish the trick.

The younger Devine told a reporter the device has been employed successfully in a number of cases and that an extremely small model has been developed for use in babies.

But, he added, there is still a problem of "find an instrument maker who can copy Mr. Morgan's work and put these instruments out in any quantity."

Ikeman Insists U.S. Reporters Do Good Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's press secretary says he thinks Washington reporters are getting the news and "more fairly and more accurately than they did in the past administration."

On that James C. Hagerty, the press secretary, crossed swords on a television program last night with Raymond P. Brandt, chief of the Washington bureau of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

They differed, too over whether the administration fears and distrusts the press and whether it was a payoff to friendly newspapers when Atty. Gen. Brownell "leaked" word to five hand-picked newsmen ahead of time that Gov. Earl Warren of California would become chief justice.

"In the Roosevelt administration," Brandt said, "we had politicians and college professors and those who studied government. Now, the bulk of the top men and women are business people, or military, who have the idea that they can put an action already taken before the people and thereby stop discussion."

Hagerty said in reply he believes the administration is honestly trying to see that Washington newspapermen get the news. He said a new information order may be expected within two weeks which will deny to 29 federal agencies the right to put secrecy stamps on documents and limit the right in 16 other departments to the agency heads.

The order will replace one former President Truman issued in 1951 which told civilian agencies to apply military rules of security to information which might help enemies.

Jury Being Picked

IRONTON (AP)—Jury seating continued today in the trial of Alfred Robinson, 26, and William Saunders, 27, accused of first-degree murder in the robbery-beating last July 4 of Karl Williams, 41, of Grann, Ky.

U.S. Prisoners To Be Ousted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Informed senators said today all U. S. military prisoners in Korea who cooperated with their Communist captors or gave false confessions will be quietly ousted from the services.

They said this assurance had been given by Secretary of Defense Wilson and the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force. Lawmakers who asked not to be named said the ousters will be on an individual case basis.

The reported Pentagon promise that those who broke under Communist persuasion or tortures will be separated from the service may head off a potential investigation by the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Quadruplets Born In Lansing, Mich.

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Quadruplets, the second set for Michigan's capitol city, were born here yesterday.

Mrs. June Trollman, 33, is the mother. She gave birth to three boys and a girl. Mother and the babies were reported "doing fine."

The tiny infants, ranging in weight from 2 pounds 3 ounces to 2 pounds 10 ounces, were placed in an incubator.

Lansing already is well known for its Morlok quadruplets — four sisters—now 23 years old who were born in 1930.

Air Academy Awaiting OK By Congress

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—The Air Force is ready to set up a West Point of the air as soon as Congress says yes.

There is even a possibility it may not be necessary to await congressional authorization before starting an experimental air academy on a small scale.

These possibilities were discussed at a briefing by Lt. Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, commanding general of the Air University, for visiting aviation writers.

The university at near by Maxwell Air Force Base, is not an academy, but a military graduate school for officers.

Kuter said officers on the Air University staff "hope that legislation now before Congress to establish an air academy will pass."

"We would expect to provide much of the staff for such an academy," he said, "we have drafted a curriculum and other details, and are ready to put them into operation."

Brig. Gen. Dale Smith, the Air University's director of education, added that plans are to enroll 250 students in the first class, "and we are prepared to start with the freshman class at any time."

A bill now before Congress, sponsored by Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.) and supported by the Defense Department, would authorize an air academy of 2,500 students, an enrollment equal to that of the military academy at West Point.

The bill also would authorize establishment of a smaller interim academy. It is such a temporary academy which some experts believe the Air Force already has the authority to set up.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson will be in the main target area when the Democrats start blasting the Eisenhower administration in 1954, a congressional election year.

Enough Democrats already have said enough to indicate their party's period of sweetness and light toward the administration, an unnatural condition at best, is over.

No doubt Sen. Symington of Missouri will be in one of the Democrats' forward positions when the full assault begins. Months ago this former secretary of the Air Force started firing a flock of venomous guided missiles at the administration in general and Wilson in particular.

Symington's main peeve against Wilson has been the five-billion-dollar cut in the Air Force which Wilson piloted through Congress this year. Wilson may have the job of trying to cut defense expenses some more next year too.

Since 1954 is an election year, with control of Congress at stake, the Eisenhower administration would find it handy to have a magic formula for regaling the voters with:

A big tax cut for everyone, individuals and corporations; at the same time expenses reduced to balance the budget; and still enough money spent on defense to keep the country amply protected.

Privately the administration already may have abandoned hope of doing any such thing; defense costs are the biggest part of the budget and cutting them enough to balance it might endanger the country.

Yet, the whole administration will be looking to Wilson to cut defense costs where he can, with safety. Safety is not only a nice word but a vague one.

It's the word which Symington and other Democrats can employ to give Wilson a hard time—when he appears before Congress to explain how much money he needs and doesn't need for defense—with questions like these:

Where does safety stop and danger begin when it is known the Russians are working on the hydrogen bomb? And are Wilson's proposed cuts in defense spending an attempt to economize at the risk of safety?

When Wilson was president of General Motors he could run things his own way so long as he kept the board of directors happy with a yearly report of healthy profits, which he did.

He found as defense secretary his every known move was open to public scrutiny and congressional inquiry, not all of it friendly and some of it hostile.

This week Symington, one of his most constant critics, said: "It becomes steadily more apparent that some of the so-called businessmen brought into Washington to 'straighten things out' have no basic knowledge of, or respect for, the system of checks and balances between the executive and legislative branches of our government."

Symington said the administration went back on a pledge by Wilson that no combat planes would be eliminated by a cut in Air Force appropriations, and added: "What right have those appointed—not elected—government servants to hoodwink the Congress and the people in this manner?"

Huron County Demanded By Indian Kin

NORWALK, Ohio (AP)—Descendants of the Senecas, Hurons, Delaware, Wyandots, Miamis and Chippewas claim their Indian ancestors were cheated in 1795, and they want back Huron County.

If they can't have the fertile farm land around Norwalk, they want the federal government to put up a little more than the two cents an acre the Indians got 158 years ago at the Treaty of Green Village.

The Indians, whose suit at Washington, D. C., was made public yesterday, contend their ancestors were forced to live on western reservations. If those ancestors had got the money Huron County is worth, they would have been able to buy good land and live better, the descendants complain.

After the treaty the Indians moved to the northwestern part of the state and by 1817 they had lost all title to lands in Ohio.

The suit does not set specific damages, the descendants asking that the Indian claims commission fix compensation.

In 1950 the commission awarded 32 million dollars to Ute Indians who said government sharpers had done their ancestors out of western lands.

Huron County is 12 miles south of Lake Erie and almost due south of Sandusky.

Motorists Advised Of Tire Safety

Safety features of a new, rough-tested tire—Firestone Supreme—have been called to the attention of Pickaway County motorists by J. D. Edwards, manager of the Firestone store in Circleville.

Edwards reminded of the many accidents caused daily by high-speed blowouts. The Firestone Supreme, he said, can mean the difference between a safe, straight stop and a swerving crash which easily could result in loss of life.

"The reason why the Firestone Supreme gives positive blowout protection," Edwards said, "is the fact that it is actually a tire within a tire. Should the outer tire become damaged and blow out, it will not go suddenly flat and throw the car out of control. A patented safety valve traps most of the air in the inner tire."

Tubelless in construction, the tire also is puncture sealing and gives special skid protection.

Ikes And Mamies All Come Running

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—"Joy," the wire haired terrier at the executive residence, presented four bundles of joy to Gov. John Lodge's family—two males and two females.

The Lodges named the males "Ike" and the females "Mamie." "But," complained Mrs. Lodge, "it didn't seem to do much good. If you call either 'Mamie' or 'Ike'—they all come running."

Ah, Civilization

DALLAS (AP)—Eagles are getting scarce in these parts or Indians aren't the eagle-eyed marksmen they used to be. So says Dallas zoo man Laurence Curtis. Ten Indians from Anadarko, Oklahoma, reservation visited the zoo to gather cast-off tail feathers from the floors of the eagle cages. They use them to make war bonnets.

59 CHS Boys And Girls Earn Places On First Honor List

Circleville High School boasted an honor roll of 59 pupils for the first six-weeks' grading period of the new school year.

Freshmen claimed top honors during the first grading period with 19 from that class earning places on the honor roll.

Seniors were second in number on the honor list with 15 names; juniors were third with 14; and sophomores were last with 11.

Four of the CHS pupils—two freshmen and two seniors—earned perfect marks of all "A's" during the first grading period. They were Freshmen Anne Adkins and Ellis Couch; and Seniors Lissa Given and Mona Mowery.

Huron County Demanded By Indian Kin

NORWALK, Ohio (AP)—Descendants of the Senecas, Hurons, Delawareans, Wyandots, Miamis and Chippewas claim their Indian ancestors were cheated in 1795, and they want back Huron County.

If they can't have the fertile farm land around Norwalk, they want the federal government to put up a little more than the two cents an acre the Indians got 158 years ago at the Treaty of Green Village.

The Indians, whose suit at Washington, D. C., was made public yesterday, contend their ancestors were forced to live on western reservations. If those ancestors had got the money Huron County is worth, they would have been able to buy good land and live better, the descendants complain.

After the treaty the Indians moved to the northwestern part of the state and by 1817 they had lost all title to lands in Ohio.

The suit does not set specific damages, the descendants asking that the Indian claims commission fix compensation.

In 1950 the commission awarded $2 million dollars to Ute Indians who said government sharpers had done their ancestors out of western lands.

Huron County is 12 miles south of Lake Erie and almost due south of Sandusky.

Motorists Advised Of Tire Safety

Safety features of a new, rough-tested tire—Firestone Supreme—have been called to the attention of Pickaway County motorists by J. D. Edwards, manager of the Firestone store in Circleville.

Edwards reminded of the many accidents caused daily by high-speed blowouts. The Firestone Supreme, he said, can mean the difference between a safe, straight stop and a swerving crash which easily could result in loss of life.

"The reason why the Firestone Supreme gives positive blowout protection," Edwards said, "is the fact that it is actually a tire within a tire. Should the outer tire become damaged and blow out, it will not go suddenly flat and throw the car out of control. A patented safety valve traps most of the air in the inner tire."

Tubeless in construction, the tire also is puncture sealing and gives special skid protection.

Ikes And Mamies All Come Running

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—"Joy," the wire haired terrier at the executive residence, presented four bundles of joy to Gov. John Lodge's family—two males and two females.

The Lodges named the males "Ike" and the females "Mamie." "But," complained Mrs. Lodge, "it didn't seem to do much good. If you call either 'Mamie' or 'Ike'—they all come running."

CONFIDENT, NOT COCKY GOOD NEWS FOR THE ECONOMY is contained in reports that the nation's retailers are making big plans for the Christmas rush. Consensus of various types of store operators is that they have a chance to beat last year's November-December sales records.

Advertising campaigns above or on a par with last year's are scheduled and in some cases holiday selling will be launched in advance of the traditional Thanksgiving starting date.

This feeling of optimism at the point-of-sale level is of surpassing importance. The psychology of confidence is a prime lubricant in keeping the wheels turning and should carry the country over any mild bumps that may appear. Confidence, however, is not to be mistaken for cockiness.

Merchandisers across the country reportedly have tapered off on slow-moving inventories while concentrating on merchandise in greater demand and continue to watch the situation carefully. They see no danger signals ahead.

Circumspect confidence is the keynote. After all factors are analyzed and weighed, the urge is stronger than ever to move dynamically ahead. This has long been America's success formula, and it will prove as potent in the months ahead as in previous periods.

OIL AND POLITICS CERTAIN FACTORS IN THE general oil situation which necessitate curtailment of U. S. production may not be too well understood by the public. Generally speaking, curtailment is necessary because of a mounting surplus of crude brought about by heavy imports of foreign oil.

The world situation is responsible for this. Congress so far has refused to limit foreign imports. As a result oil is being shipped in not only from South America, but from Arabia and other Middle East points, partly to keep those countries happy and to keep the oil out of the hands of Russia. And both exploration and production in the U. S. have been on the increase.

George E. Sokolsky's These Days

Ever since I can remember, the Presidency has been called a man-killing job. It truly must be a hard job if so much is said about it. I looked up what it has done during the twentieth century:

William McKinley was assassinated. Theodore Roosevelt left the Presidency in 1909; then he went hunting in Africa, edited the "Independent," ran for a third term on the "Bull Moose" ticket; tried to get into World War I; died in 1919 at the age of 60.

William Howard Taft left the Presidency in 1913; he became Chief Justice of the United States; died in 1930 at the age of 72. Woodrow Wilson died of a tumor on the brain at the age of 67. He became ill during his Presidency. There is no evidence that hard work had anything to do with it.

Warren Harding died in office at 57 under circumstances which leave the cause of death in doubt; but it was not overwork. Calvin Coolidge left the Presidency in 1929. He died of a heart attack in 1933 at the age of 60.

Herbert Hoover is still alive at the age of 79. He is actively engaged in the reorganization of the Federal Government at the head of a commission that bears his name.

Franklin D. Roosevelt died in office at the age of 63. He had served three terms and was in his fourth.

Harry Truman, who left the Presidency less than a year ago, is busy writing an autobiography, making speeches and traveling about the country. He is 69 years old.

This is the record. Out of nine, only two died in office on account of illness; one was assassinated. As most Presidents are past middle age, death is not unexpected; the seven who died averaged 62½ years, if that tells anything.

There is no evidence in any kind of statistics that hard work, particularly mental work, ever killed anybody. As a matter of fact, the records tend to show that mental workers live long, perhaps because they keep out of the way of accidents, do not strain vital organs, and do not exercise. (The last point is a private theory of my own based on nothing.)

Also, mental workers generally eat lustily, which, according to the doctors, should shorten their lives. Only in the case of Harding is there even a suspicion that his death had anything to do with eating.

The Presidency of the United States is an interesting, exciting, challenging job. Some psychologists insist that boredom in old age is a cause of decay and death. No one can take the Presidency seriously and be bored with the job. Every moment something new and vital appears to stimulate the mind.

Of course, if a man, such as Harding, likes to dodge responsibility, he may find that the challenges pass him by. Charles Evans Hughes, who was Harding's Secretary of State, did most of the broad thinking of that administration. He died at the age of 86, after serving as Chief Justice of the United States.

Inhalation of Dusts Harmful

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D. DUST has been the recognized foe of the housewife for many years. But it took a long time indeed to establish the fact that it was also harmful to working men in general.

Certain dusts, when inhaled into the lungs, can cause greater or lesser damage, depending on the condition of the lungs and the concentration and type of dust particles.

Some More Damaging Dust is formed mechanically by such acts as grinding, hammering, rubbing and sawing. The inhalation of large quantities of dust can cause damage to the lungs. However, certain dusts do more harm than others.

The relationship between dust and length of life was determined by early physicians. It was found that it was common for bricklayers and lime workers to live to an old age while sandstone masons died early. Also, higher mortality from lung diseases was experienced by those living in dusty atmospheres.

Natural "Filters" If the lungs are healthy, they can deal with a large amount of dust without too much damage occurring. The nose acts as a partial filter and the lining of the tubes leading to the lungs and the throat also prevent a great deal of dust from ever reaching the lungs.

Danger of Tuberculosis It also may increase the chances of tuberculosis. Modern industry has now provided proper ventilation and masks to those who work where there is an excessive amount of dust, in order to prevent the development of lung diseases from inhalation. Local, state and federal regulations also have done much to aid in the prevention of these diseases due to dust.

QUESTION AND ANSWER W. R. T.: When is the best time for a person to brush his teeth? Answer: It is usually best to brush one's teeth after eating so as to eliminate any food particles that may be caught between the teeth or elsewhere in the mouth. Brushing the teeth immediately after eating may help prevent the growth of certain bacteria which live on food particles and cause tooth decay.

Red Heads Don't Cry

by ROY L. FOLEY

CHAPTER NINETEEN NANCY felt that Linda was groping, that she didn't know exactly how to begin. Her manner was one of almost friendly gush mixed with hauteur. Nancy had a feeling that the hauteur wasn't innate.

Linda was striking in appearance. Except for her very red lips, she was without makeup. Her face was startlingly white in contrast with her lips.

Linda said that she almost didn't know how to start saying what she wanted to say, and in contradiction to her statement, she started immediately.

"It's this, Miss Kelly. I want to save you embarrassment." "Me? Embarrassment?" "You will forgive me if I am frank?"

"Oh, do be frank. I like frankness, I'm a business girl." "Yes, you are a working girl." Nancy hadn't said working girl. She let it pass.

"Have one?" "Thank you, no." Nancy wasn't going to take anything from Linda Van Vliet. Not even a cigarette.

"I wonder if you know that you are being talked about?" "Is that so—by whom?" "By the girls in my—, I was going to say crowd, Miss Kelly, but it's a vulgar expression. I mean at the clubs, at dinners, everywhere I go. There is such gossip about you and Phil Stanley. It hurts me, really it does. It seems so cruel for a girl as nice as you must be to be made a fool of by anyone so obviously—shall I say it—so obviously out of your world as Phil Stanley."

"You have said it. Is he out of my world?" Linda ignored the question. "Phil is a charming fellow and no doubt you've found him so, as have so many other girls—shall I say it—to their regret."

"You have said it. How regret?" "Really, Miss Kelly. You are making it difficult for me. I wanted to be kind to you." "Go ahead. Be kind. I need it."

"It all comes right down to this, Miss Kelly. Phil is only playing with you, making a silly little goose out of you. You must know his background. How, possibly can a girl who has the good sense you have fail to see that Phil Stanley is reckless. He thinks he can buy anything, even girls like you. It would be such a tragedy if something happened—if you were a man. It's different with a woman. The world hardly lifts an eyebrow at a man, but a girl—"

Under Nancy's steady gaze Linda pretended to flutter, as though she had touched upon an indelicate subject and was embarrassed. As though she had done her best to reach down from the level of Phil Stanley's plane and hers, and that Nancy Kelly of Cass street couldn't, or wouldn't understand her language.

She talked, and though Nancy Copyright, 1953, by Roy L. Foley. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

This increased activity by American oil men must be chalked up to the everlasting credit of the oil men, who have seen the nation go through periods of war in which oil was in short supply, and brought the need for rationing for civilian use. They are doing their part to make the nation self-sufficient under any and all conditions.

If the government endangers the industry through international politics, oil men are helpless to aid themselves.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

MEXICO CITY — Mexico's attempt to apply F.D.R.'s New Deal to this underdeveloped and backward country has plunged it into virtual bankruptcy without improving the miserable condition of the mass of the population beyond the borders of this alleged "Paris of America." Only a few smart politicians and associated industrialists have profited from an experiment admittedly inspired by Washington's example.

Former President Miguel Aleman, whose term ended less than a year ago, was a great admirer and friend of Roosevelt. They maintained unusually cordial relations, in view of the differences between the two countries. F.D.R. sold Aleman on the idea of copying his social and economic adventures, and the Mexican Executive agreed with Latin verve.

A BUST—But the results have been a "bust." For lack of money, possibly because the so-called "Aleman gang" stole from the treasury instead of using tax receipts and foreign loans for constructive purposes, almost every New Deal project has had to be halted long before completion. The lush countryside is scarred with well meant but unfinished undertakings — highways, railroad improvements, housing projects, a new national university, port expansion, etc. President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines, Aleman's protégé and successor, has promised to complete the program, but the job is impossible. Despite his Aleman association, the people regard him as an honest man and trust him. But, though his spirit may be willing, his treasury is weak.

As in the United States, the Aleman system of farm subsidies has had an ill effect. There was no need to finance basic crops like corn, beans and cattle, for Mexico does not produce enough of these staples for domestic use. But it did subsidize such export commodities as henequen, raw textiles and silver. When the world price for these things recently dropped, subsidies and wages had to be cut to the starvation point.

UNREST—As a result, serious unrest exists throughout the interior, with angry and sometimes violent demonstrations against absentee landowners and government officials. In Yucatan, our party's car was almost mobbed by 1,000 henequen pickers assembled along the road in protest. Their pay had just been cut to 44 cents a day.

A humorous episode involving federal subsidies occurred in Northern Mexico. When a scourge of poisonous scorpions endangered the region, the government offered a bounty for each dead beast. Pronto, the people, including soldiers and police, dropped everything to turn to large-scale production of scorpions. In studying our farm surplus problem, President Eisenhower and Secretary Benson might investigate this incident.

WATERLESS — An elaborate housing project was begun on the outskirts of overcrowded Mexico City. Miles of beautifully paved streets, an electric lighting system and building plots have been constructed at great expense. But it has been abandoned because the bureaucrats did not bother to discover that no water was available for the prospective 10,000 residents.

Another Aleman experiment in allocating a going industry to farmers and worker turned out disastrously. Between World War I and II, industrious German settlers developed the profitable production of coffee in Chiapas Province in Southern Mexico. When they were interned after Pearl Harbor, their properties were given to the field and factory hands.

When they were interned after Pearl Harbor, their properties were given to the field and factory hands.

Their lack of business and administrative experience resulted in quick collapse of the industry. Now, the once-productive and prosperous fields stand idle, or have been shifted to corn for only local use.

Union Power — Under Aleman's dispensation, the unions have become all-powerful. They dominate the workers, management and ownership. But their leaders, as in the U. S. in the pre-Eisenhower period, are allied with the ruling politicians. Union members do and vote as they are told by their bosses.

Ever since I can remember, the Presidency has been called a man-killing job. It truly must be a hard job if so much is said about it. I looked up what it has done during the twentieth century:

William McKinley was assassinated. Theodore Roosevelt left the Presidency in 1909; then he went hunting in Africa, edited the "Independent;" ran for a third term on the "Bull Moose" ticket; tried to get into World War I; died in 1919 at the age of 60.

William Howard Taft left the Presidency in 1913; he became Chief Justice of the United States; died in 1930 at the age of 72. Woodrow Wilson died of a tumor on the brain at the age of 67. He became ill during his Presidency. There is no evidence that hard work had anything to do with it. Warren Harding died in office at 57 under circumstances which leave the cause of death in doubt; but it was not overwork. Calvin Coolidge left the Presidency in 1929. He died of a heart attack in 1933 at the age of 60.

Herbert Hoover is still alive at the age of 79. He is actively engaged in the reorganization of the Federal Government at the head of a commission that bears his name.

Franklin D. Roosevelt died in office at the age of 63. He had served three terms and was in his fourth.

Harry Truman, who left the Presidency less than a year ago, is busy writing an autobiography, making speeches and traveling about the country. He is 69 years old.

This is the record. Out of nine, only two died in office on account of illness; one was assassinated. As most Presidents are past middle age, death is not unexpected; the seven who died averaged 62½ years, if that tells anything.

There is no evidence in any kind of statistics that hard work, particularly mental work, ever killed anybody. As a matter of fact, the records tend to show that mental workers live long, perhaps because they keep out of the way of accidents, do not strain vital organs, and do not exercise. (The last point is a private theory of my own based on nothing.)

Also, mental workers generally eat lustily, which, according to the doctors, should shorten their lives. Only in the case of Harding is there even a suspicion that his death had anything to do with eating.

The Presidency of the United States is an interesting, exciting, challenging job. Some psychologists insist that boredom in old age is a cause of decay and death. No one can take the Presidency seriously and be bored with the job. Every moment something new and vital appears to stimulate the mind.

Of course, if a man, such as Harding, likes to dodge responsibility, he may find that the challenges pass him by. Charles Evans Hughes, who was Harding's Secretary of State, did most of the broad thinking of that administration. He died at the age of 86, after serving as Chief Justice of the United States.

Inhalation of Dusts Harmful

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

DUST has been the recognized foe of the housewife for many years. But it took a long time indeed to establish the fact that it was also harmful to working men in general.

Certain dusts, when inhaled into the lungs, can cause greater or lesser damage, depending on the condition of the lungs and the concentration and type of dust particles.

Some More Damaging Dust is formed mechanically by such acts as grinding, hammering, rubbing and sawing. The inhalation of large quantities of dust can cause damage to the lungs. However, certain dusts do more harm than others.

The relationship between dust and length of life was determined by early physicians. It was found that it was common for bricklayers and lime workers to live to an old age while sandstone masons died early. Also, higher mortality from lung diseases was experienced by those living in dusty atmospheres.

Natural "Filters" If the lungs are healthy, they can deal with a large amount of dust without too much damage occurring. The nose acts as a partial filter and the lining of the tubes leading to the lungs and the throat also prevent a great deal of dust from ever reaching the lungs. Certain blood cells around the lung's sacs may also help rid the body of some of these particles.

However, when high concentrations of dust are inhaled, especially those of silica, asbestos, coal, talc, and beryllium, damage can occur to the lungs. These particles cause fibrosis and nodule formation in the lung tissues which may, if allowed to progress, destroy much of the healthy lung tissue.

Danger of Tuberculosis It also may increase the chances of tuberculosis.

Modern industry has now provided proper ventilation and masks to those who work where there is an excessive amount of dust, in order to prevent the development of lung diseases from inhalation. Local, state and federal regulations also have done much to aid in the prevention of these diseases due to dust.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

W. R. T.: When is the best time for a person to brush his teeth?

Answer: It is usually best to brush one's teeth after eating so as to eliminate any food particles that may be caught between the teeth or elsewhere in the mouth. Brushing the teeth immediately after eating may help prevent the growth of certain bacteria which live on food particles and cause tooth decay.

Red Heads Don't Cry

by ROY L. FOLEY

CHAPTER NINETEEN

NANCY felt that Linda was groping, that she didn't know exactly how to begin. Her manner was one of almost friendly gush mixed with hauteur. Nancy had a feeling that the hauteur wasn't innate. Linda was striking in appearance. Except for her very red lips, she was without makeup. Her face was startlingly white in contrast with her lips.

Linda said that she almost didn't know how to start saying what she wanted to say, and in contradiction to her statement, she started immediately.

"It's this, Miss Kelly. I want to save you embarrassment."

"Me? Embarrassment?"

"You will forgive me if I am frank?"

"Oh, do be frank. I like frankness, I'm a business girl."

"Yes, you are a working girl."

Nancy hadn't said working girl. She let it pass.

"Have one?"

"Thank you, no."

Nancy wasn't going to take anything from Linda Van Vliet. Not even a cigarette.

"I wonder if you know that you are being talked about?"

"Is that so—by whom?"

"By the girls in my—, I was going to say crowd, Miss Kelly, but it's a vulgar expression. I mean at the clubs, at dinners, everywhere I go. There is such gossip about you and Phil Stanley."

It hurts me, really it does. It seems so cruel for a girl as nice as you must be to be made a fool of by anyone so obviously—shall I say it—so obviously out of your world as Phil Stanley."

"You have said it. Is he out of my world?"

Linda ignored the question.

"Phil is a charming fellow and no doubt you've found him so, as have so many other girls—shall I say it—to their regret."

"You have said it. How regret?"

"Really, Miss Kelly. You are making it difficult for me. I wanted to be kind to you."

"Go ahead. Be kind. I need it."

"It all comes right down to this, Miss Kelly. Phil is only playing with you, making a silly little goose out of you. You must know his background. How, possibly can a girl who has the good sense you have fail to see that Phil Stanley is reckless. He thinks he can buy anything, even girls like you. It would be such a tragedy if something happened—if you were common." It's different with a man. The world hardly lifts an eyebrow at a man, but a girl—

Under Nancy's steady gaze Linda pretended to fluster, as though she had touched upon an indecise subject and was embarrassed. As though she had done her best to reach down from the level of Phil Stanley's plane and hers, and that Nancy Kelly of Cass street couldn't, or wouldn't understand her language.

She talked, and though Nancy instinctively hated her, she felt that there might be truth as well as poison in what Linda was saying.

There were her spirits, her pride, that she was always trying to peg so high, and keep high, tottering on the verge of the to-boggan again.

She was a Kelly. She did live down on the shabby end of Cass street. Linda Van Vliet was of Phil Stanley's world, and those of his world were in the habit of looking at a girl like her as though she might be dirt under their feet. In fact, they could look at a Nancy Kelly and give the impression of not seeing her, as though she were transparent, didn't exist.

Nancy gathered up her gloves, her purse. The tips of the fingers of one glove had been mended. Her purse looked cheaper than it actually was beside the elegant, gold-zipper handbag of Linda Van Vliet.

"Is that all you wanted to say to me, Miss Van Vliet?"

Linda placed her long, crimson nailed hand on Nancy's hand.

"I know you haven't misunderstood me. A person of your intelligence."

Nancy withdrew her hand. She stood up. The word person was expressed so sweetly insidiously. It was like the sting of a needle. It was not until Linda had gone that Nancy realized that the poison of Linda's whole conversation seemed to have made her inarticulate.

A torrent of words came flooding to her lips now. Too late.

Nancy had been so fascinated, hypnotized by the play of light in Linda's peculiarly green eyes that she felt Linda had got the best of her.

Linda had used the word common.

Common . . . common . . . common.

"I'll show that green-eyed cat. I'll—"

Nancy half ran to the Pfister hotel newsstand. She bought a paper and found a secluded spot in the lobby. She turned to "Help Wanted, Female."

There is a theory that if one doesn't want to be seen he should avoid particular effort not to be seen. Nancy settled in a big chair in a far nook of the lobby and held her newspaper spread out in front of her face, and still she was seen.

Phil Stanley often said that he could sense if there was a red-naired woman around the corner. Whether he could or not, he did turn the corner into the nook where Nancy was sitting.

He snapped a forefinger against Nancy's paper. It was as though a firecracker had exploded in her lap.

Phil was profuse with apology.

"I'm sorry. What brings you here at this strange hour of the day? What are you reading?"

Nancy held up the newspaper. "Help Wanted, Female."

Girl Scout Convention Is Attended By Local Members

The Girls Scouts of the U.S.A. will make special efforts in the next two years to reach the thousands of girls who need Scouting and are asking for it, according to a resolution adopted at the 32nd national convention of the organization at its closing session Wednesday in Cincinnati, Miss Ruth Stout delegate to the convention from Circleville and Pickaway County said today.

More than 7000 adult leaders and 700 Senior Girl Scouts took part in the proceedings, Miss Stout reported, making it the largest convention in Girl Scout history. Those who represented the Circleville and Pickaway County Association included Mrs. Walter Heine and Miss Stout.

The convention heard a battery of distinguished speakers present the needs of girls today and suggest ways in which Girl Scouting can help girls prepare for citizenship. Messages from both President and Mrs. Eisenhower, were read at the opening session. Mrs. Eisenhower is honorary president of the Girls Scouts and her two nieces are members of a Washington, D. C. troop.

A predicted 40 percent increase in the number of girls of Scout age was cited by Mrs. Roy F. Layton, Chevy Chase, Md., Girl Scout president, as one reason why extraordinary efforts must be made to serve more girls in the next few years.

Dr. Ethel J. Alpenfels of New York City, anthropologist and educator, and Mrs. Oswald B. Lord, United States Representative on the United Nations Commission on Human Rights, outlined to the convention the need to build better understanding among groups in our own country and throughout the world. In line with this, it was reported that the 32 nation World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts is working with Scout groups in Latin America and in the Near and Far East where the position of women has hitherto made it difficult for a citizenship-training movement like Scouting to spread.

A new world friendship project for Girl Scouts, "Kits for Korea" was launched at the convention, Miss Stout said. Girl Scouts will make gaily-colored drawstring bags and fill them with the essentials that are almost completely lacking in Korea: needles, pins, thread, comb, toothbrush, soap and similar items. The project was developed in cooperation with the Girl Scouts of Korea and American Relief for Korea which will act as shipping agent.

One of the features of the convention was a men's luncheon attended by 550 of the more than 30,000 men who are registered members of the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. Miss Helen Hayes, stage star and member of the Girl Scout Council of Greater New York, addressed the luncheon and later spoke briefly to the full convention.

The opening session of the convention was unique in the history of Girl Scout gatherings, Miss Stout stated. It was a symphonic pageant in which the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Dr. Thor Johnson and more than 3000 Girl Scouts of Cincinnati and Hamilton County participated.

The Lady Baden-Powell, London, England, widow of Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy and Girl Scout movements, was speaker at a special supper for teen-age Senior Girl Scouts who attended the convention. She also made the principal address at the closing session. Other guests from abroad included representatives from Scout movements in Canada, Australia, Norway, Switzerland, Pakistan, Jamaica, Belgium, Panama.

Girl Scout Convention Is Attended By Local Members

The Girls Scouts of the U.S.A. will make special efforts in the next two years to reach the thousands of girls who need Scouting and are asking for it, according to a resolution adopted at the 32nd national convention of the organization at its closing session Wednesday in Cincinnati. Miss Ruth Stout delegate to the convention from Circleville and Pickaway County said today.

More than 7000 adult leaders and 700 Senior Girl Scouts took part in the proceedings. Miss Stout reported, making it the largest convention in Girl Scout history. Those who represented the Circleville and Pickaway County Association included Mrs. Walter Heine and Miss Stout.

The convention heard a battery of distinguished speakers present the needs of girls today and suggest ways in which Girl Scouting can help girls prepare for citizenship. Messages from both President and Mrs. Eisenhower, were read at the opening session. Mrs. Eisenhower is honorary president of the Girls Scouts and her two nieces are members of a Washington, D. C. troop.

A predicted 40 percent increase in the number of girls of Scout age was cited by Mrs. Roy F. Layton, Chevy Chase, Md., Girl Scout president, as one reason why extraordinary efforts must be made to serve more girls in the next few years.

Dr. Ethel J. Alpenfels of New York City, anthropologist and educator, and Mrs. Oswald B. Lord, United States Representative on the United Nations Commission on Human Rights, outlined to the convention the need to build better understanding among groups in our own country and throughout the world. In line with this, it was reported that the 32nd World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts is working with Scout groups in Latin America and in the Near and Far East where the position of women has hitherto made it difficult for a citizenship-training movement like Scouting to spread.

A new world friendship project for Girl Scouts, "Kits for Korea" was launched at the convention. Miss Stout said. Girl Scouts will make gaily-colored drawingstring bags and fill them with the essentials that are almost completely lacking in Korea: needles, pins, thread, comb, toothbrush, soap and similar items. The project was developed in cooperation with the Girl Scouts of Korea and American Relief for Korea which will act as shipping agent.

One of the features of the convention was a men's luncheon attended by 550 of the more than 30,000 men who are registered members of the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. Miss Helen Hayes, stage star and member of the Girl Scout Council of Greater New York, addressed the luncheon and later spoke briefly to the full convention.

The opening session of the convention was unique in the history of Girl Scout gatherings. Miss Stout stated. It was a symphonic pageant in which the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Dr. Thor Johnson and more than 3000 Girl Scouts of Cincinnati and Hamilton County participated.

The Lady Baden-Powell, London, England, widow of Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy and Girl Scout movements, was speaker at a special supper for teen-age Senior Girl Scouts who attended the convention. She also made the principal address at the closing session. Other guests from abroad included representatives from Scout movements in Canada, Australia, Norway, Switzerland, Pakistan, Jamaica, Belgium, Panama.

Ohio GOPsters Still Hope Ike To Help Here

Leaders Seeing Need Of Taking Stump In State's Elections

COLUMBUS (AP) — Top Buckeye Republicans are still hoping that President Eisenhower will come to Ohio to help out in next year's election campaign.

Some Ohioans cling to the hope despite a presidential statement that he would avoid partisan congressional district struggles.

They based their hopes on the effect of Ohio political reports to the national Republican chairman, whose ears must be ringing yet.

GOP Chairman Leonard W. Hall came to Columbus for last Tuesday night's $50 a plate dinner honoring the late Sen. Robert A. Taft. He stayed for a quiet breakfast the following morning with a dozen party leaders that escaped notice because of previous night's glitter.

Hall asked the Ohio GOP policy makers to tell him frankly "what you hear; what you think." Reports from the gathering indicate that he got a bigger load than he expected.

Those who would talk about the breakfast that lasted past the cold coffee stage summed it up this way:

Gov. Frank J. Lausche, seeking a fifth term, and Mayor Thomas A. Burke of Cleveland—the man he named to Taft's seat—running for senator, will lead a formidable Democratic ticket in 1954.

Republicans want the President to come into Taft's home state to help the yet unannounced candidates who go out to battle Burke and Lausche and to bolster the congressional drive. One of those at the "grass roots" breakfast warned that the GOP might lose a half dozen Ohio congressional seats otherwise.

Although some seemed confident of an Eisenhower visit, another emphasized Hall made no commitments. "Hall was entirely too cautious to suit me," he observed. The conference took place only a short time before the President told a Washington press conference of his position on congressional campaigns.

Attending the breakfast were potential candidates for governor who earlier this month re-affirmed a previous pledge to present a harmony front rather than indulge in open warfare. Around the table with Hall were:

State GOP Chairman Ray C. Bliss, Congressman John M. Vorys, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, Lt. Gov. John W. Brown, State Auditor James A. Rhodes, Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill, House Speaker William Saxbe, Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, Franklin County Chairman William Schneider, Robert L. Barton of Sen. John W. Bricker's law firm, William Eels of Ohio Wesleyan University's Political Institute and Robert Humphrey, publicity director of the GOP National Committee.

Those contacted either declined to talk about the conference or asked anonymity. One of them promptly called Republican state headquarters for "instructions."

A party wheelhorse said he complained that national speakers sent into Ohio "didn't have much to sell." He and others urged the administration to get some punch by acting officially to clean up the eastern waterfront mess and to rid labor unions and strategic factories of Communists.

They lauded Sen. Joseph McCarthy's war on Communists and expressed belief the nation eventually would feel he had performed a great service.

The consensus was that Eisenhower would deal successfully with the farm problem, regarded seriously in Ohio, and that the President would stick by his promises of tax cuts. Hall reassured his listeners on that score.

State leaders drew criticism for not pushing to enactment in the last Legislature a talk-about proposal for a senatorial election this year, instead of letting Lausche appoint a senator. The blast went like this:

A lot of Republicans over the nation were "taken in" by Lausche's widely publicized expressions that he might vote for Taft in the 1950 election. Remembering them, some administration and other Republicans fell for "implications" that Lausche might name a Republican to succeed Taft.

An Ohio Supreme Court suit by Paul M. Herbert, former Republican lieutenant governor, at the behest of GOP brass, forced Lausche to act.

Those enchanted by Lausche got a shock when he appointed Burke, who has said he differed from most of "Mr. Republican's" views. They apparently hadn't heard that the man who appointed Burke urged President Truman to seek re-election; supported Adlai E. Stevenson and other Democrats.

Republicans had everything to gain and little to lose by a 1953 senatorial election, a proposal that Lausche said he would sign if the Legislature approved it. The spokesman asserted Republicans could have elected a senator. Even if Lausche had run for Taft's seat and won, Republicans still would have gained the governorship, he explained. In event Lausche had become senator, Lt. Gov. Brown would have become governor.

Leaders who decided against legislation for a senatorial election this year reportedly remained silent. Taft died July 31 before the Republican-controlled 100th General Assembly finally adjourned.

Hall reportedly told his guests he believed Bricker and Ohio congressmen knew in advance of arrangements for Lausche to fly with Eisenhower from Washington to Seattle, Wash., to the national governors conference after Taft's public funeral.

Barton, Bricker's law partner, promptly said Bricker had no advance knowledge of the plans, a guest reported. Hall assured them that there was "no deal" between Lausche and the President on a senatorial appointment.

Guests expressed themselves as opposed to "bribing" Lausche out of the Ohio political picture with an appointment to some high public post.

The expressions apparently followed published reports that high Republicans had sounded out Lausche over appointment as secretary of labor, a report the governor hasn't actually denied in response to questions by newsmen.

Another expression was to the effect that Ohio Republicans who have supported Lausche may have been sufficiently jolted by the Burke appointment to ditch the governor in coming elections. Regardless of the result, guests felt Hall got an earful when he put it to the ground in Ohio.

Package Delivery Trolley Suggested

BOSTON (AP) — A city councilman has offered a resolve to use Boston's publicly owned trolley car system for package delivery service to help business in downtown Boston, increase revenue on the deficit-ridden system and to help the shopper.

The plan offered the City Council yesterday by William J. Foley Jr. would work this way:

Persons would come into town by trolley car to do their shopping. The store would give them a receipt and put the packages on trolley cars for delivery at the stop nearest their home.

The shoppers then would ride home clear of bundles and pick up the packages with their receipts.

Stockholders Eye Glittering Profits Tally

Yearend Dividends, Bonuses Bring Up Double Tax Angle

NEW YORK (AP)—The season of the yearend bonus is near for some lucky stockholders and employees. Glittering profit reports by many corporations foretell extra dividends and Christmas payments. But in some cases both the extras and the bonuses may arrive after you've taken down the Christmas tree. A number of corporations have indicated they'll hold up payments until January. This is to give stockholders and employees a break in income taxes. Individual income tax rates will go down an average of 10 per cent after Jan. 1. Yearend extra dividends declared now but paid after New Year's will be subject to the new and lower payment schedules. The dividends, as always, will be paid out of corporate earnings and these earnings themselves will be subject to at least a 32 per cent corporate income tax — higher if the company comes under the additional excess profits tax. What is left to the corporation after the income tax payments can be passed along to stockholders, who then pay an individual income tax on it. A fight against this "double taxation of dividends" is expected to be renewed in the next session of Congress. Corporations usually retain a sizable part of earnings after taxes to use for expansion or for working capital. But this year profits for many of them are running well ahead of last year. Also many of them have completed or are finishing their postwar and Korean War expansion programs and will have less need for retaining earnings in the business. Stockholders are expecting to reap the benefits. So far this year dividend payments have been running nearly five percent ahead of a year ago. They have been based on the cheery profits reports that business as a whole has been turning in, especially in the second quarter. The Security and Exchange Commission estimates the profits of manufacturing corporations alone totaled three billion dollars during April, May and June, a gain of six per cent over the first three months of the year. It is nearly 14 per cent higher than the second quarter of 1952, the summer of the big steel strike. There are some signs that the third quarter earnings, now being reported, will be lower than the second quarter. But corporations reporting their net income for the first nine months of the year show the healthy gains in the first half were enough to lift the whole nine months well above a year ago, furnishing a good reserve in the cash drawer on which to draw for extra dividends to stockholders. Some corporations, of course, are going to take a more cautious stand. They fear that the readjustment in the general economy is going to gain momentum, that the fourth quarter won't be so lush in profits as the previous one, and that next year may be off still more. So they are going to save the company's money for leaner months ahead. But a downturn in business will hurt the tax collector most. Since Uncle Sam takes the biggest share of the gross earnings, he will take the biggest loss if sales turn down. What's left over for the stockholders won't be affected much, unless there is a sharp dip in business.

3-Way Scramble Is Now On For Mayoralty In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—A three-way scramble is on for the glittering job of mayor of New York although history shows that more often than not it is a political dead end. The job of governing eight million people—more than the population of some foreign countries—often has been rated as second only to the presidency. Yet no New York City mayor ever has gone to the White House. Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri can't even get on the ballot to run for reelection in the Nov. 3 balloting. His predecessor, William O'Dwyer, suddenly resigned and became ambassador to Mexico, where he remains in private life. The whole nation remembers dapper James J. (Jimmy) Walker—and how he resigned under fire. Others just faded out of the picture when they left City Hall. Three major candidates now are bitterly fighting for the post that has led so many to disillusionment or obscurity. The three are: Democrat—Manhattan Borough President Robert F. Wagner, Jr., 43, son of the late senator for whom the Wagner Labor Relations Act was named. Republican—Harold Riegelman, 61, a former acting postmaster and long active in civic affairs, but little in the public eye until the present campaign. Liberal—City Council President Rudolph Halley, 40, who was in the public eye of millions as chief counsel of the Kefauver Crime Committee in its televised questioning of underworld characters. A fourth candidate, Clifford T. McAvoy, backed by the extreme left wing American Labor Party, is conceded no chance of winning. The city normally votes Democratic, and betting odds at this point favor Wagner. But the citizens often cross party lines in a mayoral election and the experts are wary of making predictions. The possibilities are further complicated by a small registration and the sudden elimination of Impellitteri. Impellitteri, defeated in the primary by Wagner for the Democratic nomination, announced he would run as an independent. But a court ruled he had an insufficient number of valid names on his nominating petition. That raised the question of which way the Impellitteri followers would turn in the election. Most of his more prominent backers, such as James A. Farley, former Democratic national chairman, switched to Wagner out of party regularity. Impellitteri is regarded as a "conservative" Democrat. Riegelman's forces therefore hoped to garner some of the "Impy" vote. Wagner's backers include such nationally known figures as former President Truman, Adlai E. Stevenson, Sen. Herbert H. Lehman, Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., Averell Harriman and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. He is supported also by New York's regular Democratic organizations, including Tammany Hall. Wagner received an implied endorsement from the Communist Daily Worker—and promptly denounced it as a Red plot to give him a "kiss of death." The Worker, noting that a number of labor organizations backed Wagner, said that workers, "while voting for the labor-backed mayoral candidate," should support American Labor Party candidates for lesser offices. Wagner, pointing to his background as a Roman Catholic and a military officer, declared he despises "Communists, their fellow travelers and their dirty mouthpiece, the Daily Worker." Riegelman, a decorated veteran of two world wars, is a colonel in the Army reserves. President Eisenhower, in his closest approach to an excursion into local politics, wished Riegelman well at the outset of the campaign. Eisenhower, here for the dedication of a housing project, made a point of inviting Riegelman to visit his hotel and pose for pictures with him. Riegelman's campaign theme is more efficiency and sound financing in the city government. Halley vigorously opposed increases in subway fares, rents and the city sales tax. He has fought for more public housing and better enforcement of housing laws.

Londoners Eye New 'Killer Fogs'

LONDON (AP)—Millions of Londoners who carried gas masks for nearly six years during World War II soon may be toting a new type of mask — this time as protection against winter "killer fogs." A London medical committee representing 6,000 general practitioners today urged Londoners to make themselves simple gauze masks for the oncoming smog season. The committee said nearly all 6,000 deaths caused by sulphuric fumes if the smog last year could have been avoided by a gauze mask costing the equivalent of a dime to make.

Postmaster Delays Mail Delivery

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The postmaster general delayed the air mail for nearly half an hour yesterday. A Los Angeles Airways helicopter swooped down to the roof of the Terminal Annex post office to give Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield and his wife a lift to International Airport, where passenger line connections awaited them. It took a half an hour to get the couple out of the throng of well-wishers on the rooftop and into the cargo compartment of the helicopter.

Debate Rages As Tom Fool Quits Racing

Big Question: Is He Greater Horse Than Colorful Dancer

NEW YORK (AP)—The great racing career of Tom Fool was behind him today, and now the question is whether he'll be voted the No. 1 horse of 1953 over the spectacular gray 3-year-old champion, Native Dancer.

John Hay (Jack) Whitney and his sister, Mrs. Charles Shipman Payson of the Greentree Stable, announced suddenly yesterday that Tom Fool would skip the $75,000 Empire Gold Cup Saturday at Jamaica. The 1-year-old son of McNow-Gaga will be sent to the Greentree Farm at Lexington, Ky., next month to enter stud.

Tom Fool, unbeaten in 10 races this year, will go down in the record books as one of the great horses developed in this country. The sports world had anticipated a meeting between Massa Tom and the Dancer in the Sysonby Mile at Belmont in September and the Pimlico Special in Baltimore last Saturday.

But Native Dancer came up with a bruised foot and was retired for the year by Alfred Vanderbilt early in September, and Tom Fool had the field to himself.

Arguments rage on the merits of the two horses, but the question of which would have won can never be settled. Native Dancer has lost only one in his brilliant career, in the Kentucky Derby to Dark Star. Tom Fool, under a snug hold by Jockey Ted Atkinson, made a show of the $50,000 Pimlico Special Saturday in what was to prove his swan song to racing. He romped off to win by eight lengths over Navy Page and Altered, and broke the track record for a mile and three sixteenths. It was his eighth stakes victory of 1953, and perhaps his most convincing demonstration of speed and class.

Trainer John Gaver, who calls Tom Fool the greatest horse he's ever had, said the flashy bay probably would go in the Empire Gold Cup to top off his racing career. But the Greentree owners reconsidered yesterday.

"We are proud of the horse and we feel that nothing could be added to his reputation by running him again," they said. "His race in the Special was undoubtedly his finest and on it we intend to retire him to the stud."

Tom Fool, bred by Duval Headley of Lexington, Ky., was sold to Greentree privately for a reported $200,000. He earned $570,165 to become the seventh money-winning horse of the world.

His Pimlico Special victory was his 30th start and he won 21 races, finishing second seven times and third once.

Dead Heat Ends Yonkers Feature

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP)—April First and Ernest Duke finished in a dead heat for first place in the 400-yard Westport race last night at Yonkers Raceway with a 2:05.3 time.

Ernest Duke closed fast enough through the stretch with Alan Myer in the sulky to gain the tie with April First, driven by Paul Vineyard. Third was Volo Chief, driven by Stanley Dancer.

Leahy Coaching Via TV, Phone

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Coach Frank Leahy, by means of a closed television circuit and a direct telephone line, supervised practice of his Notre Dame football squad yesterday from his hospital bed.

Leahy was stricken with a stomach ailment at halftime of Notre Dame's 27-14 victory over Georgia Tech Saturday. He is expected to be released tomorrow.

Buck-Wildcat Tilt May Be Told By Toes

COLUMBUS (AP)—If Saturday's football game between Northwestern and Ohio State follows precedent, a little guy with a giant's wallop in his left foot may make the big difference.

This Big Ten tilt is traditionally a kickers' battle and Ohio State has one of the best in the conference—Thurlow (Tad) Weed, 5-foot-5 and 136 pounds, "soakin' wet."

Last season Tad saw a total of four minutes of action and scored 29 points—23 of 26 conversion attempts and two field goals.

In the 30 contests between the Wildcats and the Buckeyes, five have been decided by a kick of one kind or another. Placekicks settled the issue in four of the last eight.

A highlight of the series was in 1945, when Ohio's Max Schnitter swapped the goat's horns for a branch of laurel by blasting a fourth period field goal for a 16-14 win after miffing a conversion try.

The 1947 game was another close one. The Bucks won that virtually after the game was over. Northwestern was ahead 6-0 when the pistol sounded. But a penalty gave Ohio a post-game play. Pundit Sovie passed to Jimmy Clark to tie the score. Emil Moldea booted for the conversion and missed.

Another penalty, however, gave him a second chance. This time he cleared the uprights.

A field goal by Vic Janowicz provided the margin as Ohio won, 3-0, over Northwestern in 1951. It was Weed, himself, who won it last year. Tad's field goal capped a fourth-period rally and the Bucks went home ahead 24-21.

Minnesota Giel Tagged Top Back

NEW YORK (AP)—Because he was the key man in one of last Saturday's major upsets, Minnesota's Paul Giel was chosen today as the Associated Press back of the week.

Giel had "the greatest day of any athlete in the school's history," said Charles Johnson, veteran Minneapolis Star and Tribune football writer. Michigan Coach Bernie Osterban merely gasped, "He was wonderful," after the Gophers won 22-0.

The Minnesota Meteor handled the ball 53 times to set a conference record; he hit 11 passes before missing one and completed 13 of 18 for 169 yards during the game. He rushed for 112 yards, returned kicks for 83, punted and completely befuddled the Michigan defense with his faking.

Sokolosky's These Days

The Presidency is a political position in a free society, which means that the President must be mentally agile, quick in his perceptions, capable of adjusting to public opinion, a mass psychologist to keep himself popular, an orator of sufficient calibre not to bore his nation, a leader of a party experienced enough not to lose elections.

No President can succeed, just as no governor of a state can succeed, who lacks these qualities, even if he is a competent administrator.

The position therefore requires unusual maturity and a philosophical turn of mind. Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, Calvin Coolidge, and Franklin D. Roosevelt combined all these qualities. Herbert Hoover was too honest intellectually and too truthful in the expression of his views for the Presidency; he achieved his greatest popularity 20 years after he left that office. Harry Truman still needs to be appraised. Eisenhower is in office and cannot be discussed objectively.

I doubt that the Presidency is a man-killing job except for those who dislike its numerous challenges and who cannot understand the nature of a free society and the limitations of constitutional government.

Such a man finds his inhibitions distasteful and fails. Few such have reached the Presidency.

Judge Ignores USTA's Appeal In Smart Case

COLUMBUS (AP)—Immediate action on a plea by the U. S. Trotting Assn. to modify a court order prohibiting it from barring harness race driver Wayne (Curly) Smart from member tracks was refused yesterday by Common Pleas Judge William C. Bryant.

Attorneys for the USTA asked the restrainer be changed to allow the USTA to take action against the Delaware, Ohio, driver-trainer should he violate the organization's regulations in the future and to allow the USTA to hold a hearing against him on current charges.

Judge Bryant refused immediate action. Instead, he gave the USTA until Nov. 13 to file briefs and allowed Smart's attorney until Nov. 20 to file answers.

While failure to obtain modification of the restrainer yesterday means Smart cannot be touched by the USTA, he still is under supervision of local and state racing authorities.

The USTA said the New York Racing Commission has set a hearing Nov. 6 for Smart. He is accused of permitting a horse to be given a medicant before a race. He also was suspended in Michigan some weeks ago on a similar charge although he was not at the track on the day of the alleged violation.

West Virginia Is Top Scorer

NEW YORK (AP)—The Mountaineers of West Virginia emerged from the upsets of last weekend with the country's longest major college winning streak, the top team in scoring and the total offense leadership.

West Virginia rolled up 584 yards for the season's top total in 52-20 victory over Virginia Military Institute. The victory gave Coach Art Lewis and his squad 11 straight victories, the longest defeatless string now that Michigan State and Georgia Tech have been beaten. And it also gave the Mountaineers an average of 36.6 points and 398.2 yards per game, NCAA Service Bureau statistics show.

Hard Battle Due On Grid TV Saturday

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Devotees of hack-and-hammer football will get a full serving Saturday when Pittsburgh runs into Minnesota and Paul Giel in the week's nationally televised game.

The old-time power stuff with which the two teams bruised opponents back in the 1930s comes wrapped in a new bundle but the slam-bang pattern is still pretty much the same.

Minnesota, running from a variety of formations, grinds off the tackles with mass blocking and unbalances its line to get maximum push on short yardage plays.

The Gophers' main departure from the old power system is linked directly to the assorted football gifts of All America Giel. Minnesota's most consistent ground gainer is the option pass play. In the case of Minnesota opponents, the option presents an unhappy prospect.

Giel is hitting on over 50 per cent of his passes, and when they try to toughen the pass defense, Giel cuts loose with a stop-and-go open-field style which has frustrated tacklers for three years.

Pittsburgh, without a backfield ace like Giel to trigger its attack, has relied on straight-ahead power for most of its yardage. Fullback Bobby Epps, who carries 195 pounds on a 5-foot-8 frame, has produced most of the punch.

Pitt has lacked a first-rate passing quarterback to give its T-attack versatility.

But Coach Red Dawson will confront Giel and the Gophers with an active line, strong on the right side, unpredictable on the left.

Debate Rages As Tom Fool Quits Racing

Big Question: Is He Greater Horse Than Colorful Dancer

NEW YORK (AP)—The great racing career of Tom Fool was behind him today, and now the question is whether he'll be voted the No. 1 horse of 1953 over the spectacular gray 3-year-old champion, Native Dancer.

John Hay (Jack) Whitney and his sister, Mrs. Charles Shipman Payson of the Greentree Stable, announced suddenly yesterday that Tom Fool would skip the $75,000 Empire Gold Cup Saturday at Jamaica. The 4-year-old son of Meadow-Gaga will be sent to the Greentree Farm at Lexington, Ky., next month to enter stud.

Tom Fool, unbeaten in 10 races this year, will go down in the record books as one of the great horses developed in this country. The sports world had anticipated a meeting between Massa Tom and the Dancer in the Sysonby Mile at Belmont in September and the Pimlico Special in Baltimore last Saturday.

But Native Dancer came up with a bruised foot and was retired for the year by Alfred Vanderbilt early in September, and Tom Fool had the field to himself.

Arguments rage on the merits of the two horses, but the question of which would have won can never be settled. Native Dancer has lost only one in his brilliant career, in the Kentucky Derby to Dark Star. Tom Fool, under a snug hold by Jockey Ted Atkinson, made a show of the $50,000 Pimlico Special Saturday in what was to prove his swan song to racing. He romped off to win by eight lengths over Navy Page and Altered, and broke the track record for a mile and three sixteenths. It was his eighth stakes victory of 1953, and perhaps his most convincing demonstration of speed and class.

Trainer John Gaver, who calls Tom Fool the greatest horse he's ever had, said the flashy bay probably would go in the Empire Gold Cup to top off his racing career. But the Greentree owners reconsidered yesterday.

"We are proud of the horse and we feel that nothing could be added to his reputation by running him again," they said.

"His race in the Special was undoubtedly his finest and on it we intend to retire him to the stud."

Tom Fool, bred by Duval Headley of Lexington, Ky., was sold to Greentree privately for a reported $20,000. He earned $70,165 to become the seventh money-winning horse of the world.

His Pimlico Special victory was his 30th start and he won 21 races, finishing second seven times and third once.

Dead Heat Ends Yonkers Feature

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP)—April First and Ernest Duke finished in a dead heat for first place in the $4,000 Westport Pace last night at Yonkers Raceway with a 2:05.3 time.

Ernest Duke closed fast enough through the stretch with Alan Myer in the sulky to gain the tie with April First, driven by Paul Vineyard. Third was Volo Chief, driven by Stanley Dancer.

Leahy Coaching Via TV, Phone

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Coach Frank Leahy, by means of a closed television circuit and a direct telephone line, supervised practice of his Notre Dame football squad yesterday from his hospital bed.

Leahy was stricken with a stomach ailment at halftime of Notre Dame's 27-14 victory over Georgia Tech Saturday. He is expected to be released tomorrow.

Buck-Wildcat Tilt May Be Told By Toes

COLUMBUS (AP)—If Saturday's football game between Northwestern and Ohio State follows precedent, a little guy with a giant's wallop in his left foot may make the big difference.

This Big Ten tilt is traditionally a kickers' battle and Ohio State has one of the best in the conference—Thurlow (Tad) Weed, 5-foot-5 and 136 pounds, "soakin' wet."

Last season Tad saw a total of four minutes of action and scored 29 points—23 of 26 conversion attempts and two field goals.

In the 30 contests between the Wildcats and the Buckeyes, five have been decided by a kick of one kind or another. Placekicks settled the issue in four of the last eight.

A highlight of the series was in 1945, when Ohio's Max Schnitter swapped the goat's horns for a branch of laurel by blasting a fourth period field goal for a 16-14 win after miffing a conversion try.

The 1947 game was another close one. The Bucks won that virtually after the game was over.

Northwestern was ahead 6-0 when the pistol sounded. But a penalty gave Ohio a post-game play. Pandel Savic passed to Jimmy Clark to tie the score. Emil Moldea booted for the conversion and missed.

Another penalty, however, gave him a second chance. This time he cleared the uprights.

A field goal by Vic Janowicz provided the margin as Ohio won, 3-0, over Northwestern in 1951. It was Weed, himself, who won it last year. Tad's field goal capped a fourth-period rally and the Bucks went home ahead 24-21.

Minnesota Giel Tagged Top Back

NEW YORK (AP)—Because he was the key man in one of last Saturday's major upsets, Minnesota's Paul Giel was chosen today as the Associated Press back of the week.

Giel had "the greatest day of any athlete in the school's history," said Charles Johnson, veteran Minneapolis Star and Tribune football writer. Michigan Coach Bernie Oosterbaan merely gasped, "He was wonderful," after the Gophers won 22-0.

The Minnesota Meteor handled the ball 53 times to set a conference record; he hit 11 passes before missing one and completed 13 of 18 for 169 yards during the game. He rushed for 112 yards, returned kicks for 83, punted and completely befuddled the Michigan defense with his faking.

Sokolsky's These Days

The Presidency is a political position in a free society, which means that the President must be mentally agile, quick in his perceptions, capable of adjusting to public opinion, a mass psychologist to keep himself popular, an orator of sufficient calibre not to bore his nation, a leader of a party experienced enough not to lose elections.

No President can succeed, just as no governor of a state can succeed, who lacks these qualities, even if he is a competent administrator.

The position therefore requires unusual maturity and a philosophical turn of mind. Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, Calvin Coolidge, and Franklin D. Roosevelt combined all these qualities. Herbert Hoover was too honest intellectually and too truthful in the expression of his views for the Presidency; he achieved his greatest popularity 20 years after he left that office. Harry Truman still needs to be appraised. Eisenhower is in office and cannot be discussed objectively.

I doubt that the Presidency is a man-killing job except for those who dislike its numerous challenges and who cannot understand the nature of a free society and the limitations of constitutional government.

Such a man finds his inhibitions distasteful and fails. Few such have reached the Presidency.
